PRESIDENT IS STANDING FIRM ON RATES

Mr. Roosevelt Gives Out the Word from the White House.

HAS A TALK WITH SENATOR FORAKER

Ohio Statesman Closeted With the Chief Magistrate on Rate Legislation.

NO EVIDENCE OF A QUARREL

Committee Bill Is to Be Introduced, but Is Not Expected to Meet the Approval of the Administration, Which Has Not Changed on the Subject.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 16, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.

President Roosevelt will stand pat on railroad rate legislation. He will advocate the policy that he has heretofore and will urge radical action on the part of congress. This was the word that was passed out from the White House today.

It was a sort of how-do-you-do day at the president's office; a day of handshaking, of exchange of compliments and a tossing back and forth of bouquets. But underneath it all was a serious strain that had a direct bearing upon the important questions that will face congress this fall. Senators and representatives who called to pay their respects listened carefully for a word or sentence that would give them a cue as to how the president viewed these questions. And the word went out that he stood pat.

Interest centered in the visit of Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio. Mr. Foraker walked into the reception room with an assurance that he really did not feel, in view of his recent utterances at the opening of the Ohio campaign at Bellefontaine. In his speech there the senator outlined his views on the railroad rate question, and these views did not at all coincide with those of President Roosevelt.

No Evidence of Quarrel.

Consequently when he walked into the president's office he naturally felt a little curious as to the kind of reception he would receive. He stayed quite a while and when he came out he looked calm and satisfied. If he and the president had been quarreling there was no evidence of it in his manner. The newspaper men gathered about and besieged him with questions.

"The president and I have been fighting over the railroad rate question," said Senator Foraker with a smile. It was a joke, of course, but lest some of his hearers might put a more serious construction on his words, he said:

"No, really, there is no trouble between the president and me on this question. Yes, we talked it over briefly, but only in a very general way. It was a thoroughly friendly and amicable discussion; that's all I can say about it."

As a matter of fact, it is understood Senator Foraker was chosen by some of his colleagues on the senate committee on interstate commerce to sound the president on the question and find out just where he stands. It was in reality the duty of Senator Elkins of West Virginia, chairman of the committee, to do this sounding, but Mr. Elkins had important business that called him away from Washington before he had a chance to talk with the president.

Shifted Job to Foraker.

He asked Foraker to do the sounding for him, and Foraker did it. And now Mr. Foraker can make a very accurate report to the effect that the president stands pat. That being the case, Senators Elkins, Foraker and others who disagree with him will find the issue clearly drawn when the president sends his message to congress in December.

Senator Foraker is now engaged in drafting a bill which is to be a committee bill, intended as a substitute for the Esch-Townsend bill passed by the house at the last session. This bill will not enlarge the powers of the interstate commerce commission, but it will provide for expediting any cases brought before the courts under the existing laws. This will be the principal feature of it, but it will also regulate private car lines and will cover several other points that are believed to need legislation. The important point about it, however, is that it will not give the interstate commerce commission the power to substitute a new rate for one found to be improper until the courts have passed on the question. When he has completed the measure, Senator Foraker will submit it to the president, though he scarcely expects to secure executive approval of it.

Senator Burkett of Nebraska was another caller at the White House today who talked rate legislation with the president. He, too, brought out the word that the president had not weakened on the question, and will stand pat. Others confirmed this report, and it is now generally understood that when congress convenes, the fight of the session will be on this subject. L. W. STRAYER.

PRISON LIFE IS TOO GOOD FOR BIGAMIST

Judge Scores Carlton and Sentences Him to Nineteen Years in Sing Sing.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—There was a dramatic scene in Judge Aspinall's court, Brooklyn, this afternoon when Frederick E. Carlton was sentenced to 19 years in Sing Sing prison. Carlton appeared unmoved. His lawyer made a strong plea for clemency, declaring that the prisoner was in poor health and that his four trials were rushed through in one day, a thing heretofore unknown. "A long sentence," he said, "will mean a life sentence."

Judge Aspinall, in pasing sentence, mentioned the disappearance of two of the prisoner's wives, on whose lives he had collected $5,000 in insurance.

"These women," said the judge, "were either done away with or left to the cold mercies of the world. If I were able I would send this man to the electric chair. I believe he gave strychnine to Schwab, the victim whom he robbed, and am convinced that only the latter's strong constitution saved him."

Turning to Carlton the judge said: "You are a villain, and it would be a good thing for you to go to prison and die there. The community should be protected against you. On the first indictment of bigamy for marrying Marie Gorman, I suspend sentence in order to give you the full limit on the other three indictments. On the second, for marrying Mary T. Smith, five years in Sing Sing. On the third, for grand larceny, ten years in Sing Sing. On the fourth, for marrying Lulu Kittering, four years in Sing Sing. My only regret is that I cannot make it 25 years."

IMPORTS GOATS.

Agricultural Department Has Herd of Sixty-Eight Brought From Malta for Propagation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The department of agriculture has imported from the Island of Malta a herd of 68 milking goats. These animals have arrived at New York, and are now in quarantine awaiting inspection. They will be taken to the Connecticut experiment station where they will be fed, milked and propagated under scientific conditions. The young will be distributed throughout the experiment stations of the different states.

Secretary Wilson said today:

"The milking goat has been neglected in the United States. Goats are almost entirely free from tuberculosis. Their milk is peculiarly adapted to children, resembling human milk more than that from any other animal. It is also valuable for invalids. People who cannot keep a cow may keep a goat."

DISREGARDS YELLOW JACK.

President Roosevelt Will Go to New Orleans, Returning on a Warship to Avoid Quarantine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—It will take a special train and a man-of-war to get President Roosevelt in and out of New Orleans while the yellow fever is raging there. Mr. Roosevelt had been told that if he went to New Orleans the chances were the quarantine laws of other states would prevent his immediate return, and he would have to go into quarantine like any other citizen.

The president was told he could return to Washington by sea. Quick as a flash the decision came. The president would go to New Orleans on a train. He would order a cruiser to New Orleans to bring him back to Washington. The ocean trip will lengthen the absence of the president from Washington several days. He will leave October 18, and will probably not be back again until October 30 or 31.

HANDS OVER TEN MILLIONS.

John D. Rockefeller Gives That Amount to General Education Board in Eight Checks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The $10,000,000 gift of John D. Rockefeller to the general education board, which was announced last June, was paid to the board by Mr. Rockefeller in cash today. In his letter of last June Mr. Rockefeller announced that this gift would be forthcoming on October 1 in cash or securities, at his option, and the cash was turned over to the board today.

The payment was in a series of checks made payable to George Foster Peabody, treasurer of the board. Six of the checks were for $1,000,000 and two for $2,000,000 each.

UNCLE SAM GETS REBATE.

Railroads Will Carry Armor Plate for Him Cheaper Than Other People's Freight.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Cut rates to Uncle Sam on shipments of armor plate and gun carriages to be shipped to Seattle, have been made and accepted. The contract was awarded today in Philadelphia to the Burlington, the lowest bidder.

From the Bethlehem Steel Company, at South Bethlehem, 467 tons of armor plate will be shipped. The rate is $11.65 for 100 pounds. The regular rate is $2.20. From the Dietrich & Harvey machine works in Baltimore the rate is $11.98 for 100 pounds. The regular rate is $2.53.

NO RESPECT FOR THE DEAD.

Homestead Thieves Operate in a House Where a Corpse Is Laid Out.

Thieves who have been active in Homestead have no respect for the dead as was illustrated Sunday night when they visited the house of George Whittington, in Seventeenth avenue. The remains of Mrs. Whittington's brother, S. K. Darroll, who had died the day before, were in the parlor, but the burglars went through the house and secured $50 in cash.

They then went through the house of Mrs. Paul Dittman, Mrs. Whittington's daughter, where they secured a small sum. Both houses were open and people were about.

RAMSEY LOST LARGE SUM THROUGH GOULD

The Wabash President Makes Expose of His Many Transactions.

SAYS HIS OWN FORTUNE SUFFERS

Gives His Reasons for Seeking to Gain Control of the Property.

LETTER TO STOCKHOLDERS

Mr. Gould Is Blamed for Awarding the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Contracts Without Competition, Thus Discrediting President of the Road.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, tonight sent to the road's debenture and stockholders his long expected letter outlining his contentions, both personal and financial with George J. Gould, and giving his reasons for seeking to wrest control of the property from the latter.

Emphatic denial is made by Mr. Ramsey that Mr. Gould is the providence whom he should thank for his fortune, which, he says, is only a modest one. He asserts, on the contrary, that, with regard to railway syndicate affairs, he lost money in the syndicate managed by Mr. Gould, while the latter made large profits from those managed by Mr. Ramsey.

In explaining his resignation from the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway, Mr. Ramsey blames Mr. Gould for letting contracts without competition, and thus publicly discrediting the president of the road. To his protests against extravagance and delays, he says Mr. Gould asserted that he wanted to spend his money and manage his property as he pleased, citing the example of E. H. Harriman.

Mr. Ramsey also goes at great length into a review of the Wheeling & Lake Erie bond and note issues, disclaiming any responsibility for the failure in the floatation of the company's bonds.

Mr. Ramsey Is Ignored.

There were indications during the last few days that Mr. Ramsey hesitated about issuing the circular. His action in making it public was undoubtedly influenced by the proceedings which took place at a special meeting of the Wabash board of directors, held today, which was deeply resented by the president of the system.

Ignoring Mr. Ramsey's formal protest, the directors approved of the action of the board's executive committee, which last Thursday forced upon him an indefinite leave of absence. This step was taken to deprive the railway president of all official power until after the stockholders' annual meeting, to be held at Toledo, O., on October 10.

Mr. Ramsey was present at the meeting, which was attended by seven other board members, including George J. Gould. When the question of approving the executive committee's action came up, Mr. Ramsey arose and said:

"I have had all the vacation I need. I am now ready to continue my duties as president of the Wabash."

His words were ignored, however, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Ramsey's statement reads, in part, as follows:

"For eight years I seemed to have Mr. Gould's full support and friendship, and I showed my 'gratitude' by working night and day to carry out our plans. To use Mr. Gould's own words before the board

CRITICISM OF POLICE MAKES MOORE ANGRY

Flares Up When the Finerty Club Raid Is Mentioned to Him at His Office.

IGNORANT AS TO CHARTER

Criticism of the bureau of police in connection with the failure of Superintendent Wallace to raid the Finerty club, an alleged bogus organization conducted until Saturday midnight at 530 Second avenue, when it was raided by the county detectives, has stirred Harry Moore, director of the department of public safety. Moore is very indignant that anyone should call his police bureau to account, and yesterday afternoon declared vehemently that the criticism can be carried too far. When the director was asked if he had talked with Wallace, as he stated Sunday night he would, he flared up and exclaimed:

"I don't propose to be bulldozed by any one."

When told no one wished to bulldoze him or the police, but that a complaint had been made to the police against the Finerty club at 530 Second avenue being allowed to continue, the director said:

"Oh, you can write what you please. It's not up to the police to jump into a thing of this kind."

"Is the club raided by the county detectives bogus or not," was asked of the director.

"We have nothing to do with that," he replied, "the courts, the highest authority in Allegheny county, granted the club a charter, and if the charter the club has does not belong to it, it is for the courts to decide. The county detectives have taken the matter up and it was proper for them to do so. The courts can very easily unravel the tangle and should do so."

When the director was asked what he

CASTRO GETS ATTENTION AT WASHINGTON

French Ambassador and Secretary Root Considering Venezuelan Question.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Venezuela and other troublous conditions are now the subject of earnest considering by the Washington and Paris governments. Just from Paris with full instructions, Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, called at the state department today, and was in conference with Secretary Root for half an hour. Venezuela was the main subject under consideration, special attention being given to President Castro.

Today's conference is the first of a series which may be expected on this subject and was of a preliminary nature. At its conclusion the announcement was made that the Venezuela situation had not entered on "an imminently critical" stage. No course of action was agreed upon today. What the relative attitude of the two aggrieved nations is toward Venezuela was informally discussed, but pending the investigation there which the American special commissioner, Judge Calhoun, is now making on behalf of the Washington government, it was not possible for the secretary of state to outline to the ambassador the definite course of this country.

Mr. Jusserand made it plain that while France proposed to protect the rights of her citizens in Venezuela as elsewhere throughout the world, the French government will continue its traditional policy of courteous recognition of the special interest of this country in a question like this which affects another American republic.

ROCHESTER MAN PERISHES.

Pennsylvanian Among Those Lost on Wrecked Steamer During Storm Off Philippine Coast.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—In a cablegram to the war department today, the governor-general of the Philippines gives the latest reports on the disastrous storm that swept those islands September 28. The dispatch says that 27 men perished on the coast guard cutter Leyte, and that the reports of damage wrought by the storm are generally discouraging.

The Leyte was wrecked off Samar, and all on board were lost except nine members of the crew. Among the officers lost was E. M. Bertel, and the person to be notified is F. B. Cheney of Rochester, Pa.

A quantity of metal for making the bogus coins and several molds were found. Olmstead's confession implicated three other men and the authorities are now searching for them.

FUSIONISTS GIVE BERRY BIG AUDIENCE

Largest Crowd of the Campaign Hears Democratic Candidate at Beaver Falls.

JOHN MARRON ASSISTS HIM

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 2.—William H. Berry, the Democratic nominee for state treasurer, had the opportunity tonight of addressing the largest audience he has appeared before in Western Pennsylvania. He was assisted by John Marron of Pittsburgh, and Hugh R. Fuller of Beaver Falls.

Berry supposed he was to speak in Beaver. Inquiry in that town this evening developed that few people had ever heard of Berry and a woman had to be appealed to before it was ascertained the speakers were to perform in Beaver Falls. She was the wife of one of the few Democrats in Beaver. Even the Democratic organ of the county failed to tell its readers Berry was to be in their "midst." It develops the organ is not strong for the ticket this fall.

There is a fusion fight in Beaver county, the judgeship being the prize. Democratic County Chairman Henry H. Wilson told the Citizens they must assist in getting a big meeting for Berry. Tonight, in Beaver Falls a half-hour before the meeting runners were out drumming up an audience. The writer was hunting the meeting place, when he was stopped by one of Wilson's agents and asked to attend the gathering.

It was not to hear Barry the crowd was assembled. This was shown early in the meeting. County Chairman Wilson presided. His talk was chiefly in the interest of the local ticket. D. S. Holt, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for judge and then broke his pledge and accepted the fusion nomination, was in the audience. The fusionists are using the old cry about the granting of liquor licenses and endeavoring to show the Republican organization gets its chief support from the liquor dealers. Mr. Fuller talked for over an hour in the interest of Holt and his attacks on J. Rankin Martin, the Republican nominee, were not well received.

John Marron was used to take the place of Homer L. Castle. Marron occasionally makes some temperance speeches. He says that he is always willing to help out in a position where he thinks he can make trouble. Of course Marron attacking the Republican organization. He also criticised Senator P. C. Knox for announcing that he believes it is the duty of every Republican to vote the whole ticket this fall.

Berry had to have some one talk about state deposits and Marron tackled the subject. It was a case where he did not have to be particular about the evidence. This is a sample of the kind of stuff he told his audience, but made no effort to back up his allegation with proof: "I suppose you have all seen the published report of the state treasurer showing the amount of money deposited in each bank in the western end of the state. Every bank holding a deposit of more than $50,000, holds it by a bargain against honesty and the morals of business."

Mr. Berry confined himself to his set speech. He thinks it is a winner and is content to repeat it night after night. He will appear in Kittanning tomorrow evening.

SENATOR DICK IS AFTER BIG MEN TO STUMP OHIO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Senator Dick came to Washington today to see a number of speakers of national fame with a view of inducing them to take part in the Ohio campaign. Among those who he expects to interview on the subject tomorrow are Secretary Root, Secretary Taft and Secretary Shaw.

THUGS HOLD UP AND ROB MAN IN FRONT OF JAIL

While Highwaymen Are Going Through Pockets of G. W. Timney of Coraopolis They Are Frightened Away by County Officer.

While the policeman who is supposed to patrol the beat in the vicinity of the county jail was somewhere else, another hold-up and robbery by thugs occurred in front of the jail shortly before 10 o'clock last night. This time the victim of the highwaymen was G. W. Timney, aged 30, of Coraopolis. The highwaymen were only able to get his gold watch and turn two of his pockets inside out before they were interrupted and forced to flee.

County Detective Kohen, who was at the county detective headquarters at the morgue in Diamond street, stepped out to the entrance of the building and on looking up the street saw the men running away and the victim throwing himself violently about in Ross street. Remembering the hold-up of Deputy Coroner George Leslie, which occurred at the same point less than three weeks ago, Kohn alarmed the other county officers and ran up the street to rescue Timney. Timney was carried to the morgue, where he was revived and then it was discovered his jaw was fractured by a blow, probably from a handybilly.

While Timney was being looked after, County Detectives McMillan and O'Brien went out to search for the thugs. They took charge of one man, who made a violent struggle when grasped by the officers, but ceased when a young woman came along and said he was not the man she had seen going through Timney's pockets. The officers then released the man, but after searching the streets in the vicinity of Ross and Diamond gave up their hunt.

Timney was on his way to the Fourth avenue station of the Panhandle railroad. While passing Diamond and Ross streets, which vicinity is one of the darkest in the downtown section, and in which a policeman is seldom seen, he was approached by several men and knocked over before he had an opportunity to evade them. Sometime after the hold-up occurred Policeman McCready appeared at the morgue and sent Timney to Central police station, where he was locked up. The police found $41.30 in Timney's clothes.

Warden Lewis on hearing of the hold-up said affairs of that kind often occur in that vicinity, and that he is often awakened from his sleep by hearing a scuffle and cries for help.

Shortly after Timney was taken to Central station James Clinton, aged 60, of Oakland, reported to the police that two men had held him up in Grant street, a block away from the police station. Clinton was bleeding about the mouth and nose, where he had been struck by the highwaymen.

JUST WANTED TO SHOW WEAK POINT

New Yorker, Who Robbed Bank of Great Fortune, Restores Stolen Valuables.

SAYS HE DID IT ON A BET

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—By the confession of Henry A. Leonard, a young clerk in the employ of Haile & Stieglitz, brokers at No. 30 Broad street, the mystery of the robbery on Wednesday last of $359,000 worth of securities from the National City bank was cleared up today. Leonard, who lives with his parents at No. 586 East 156th street, was arrested yesterday and kept in close confinement, while the detectives continued their search for the missing securities, every dollar of which was recovered today.

The prisoner, who is only 24 years old and who had previously borne a good reputation, made the astounding statement that he had planned and carried out his scheme of forgery and robbery to show by what a simple device the elaborate safeguards of New York banks could be set at naught. This statement is corroborated by the facts in the case and is the belief of the young man's employers, by whom he was highly esteemed.

Soon after the theft Leonard mailed a package containing $300,000 in securities to the residence of Dyer Pearl, senior member of the firm of Pearl & Co., by whom they were owned. The package was received by Mr. Pearl yesterday. Today the remaining $59,000 in stocks and bonds were returned. The first clue that led to Leonard's arrest was obtained when the detectives traced the rubber stamp maker whom Leonard employed to make the imitation certification stamp used in the check he presented at the National City bank.

Leonard was held in the tombs police court in $50,000 bail for further examination. On leaving the court room on his way to prison he said, in response to a question: "I did it on a bet."

TEXAS NEGRO ESCAPES DEATH AT THE STAKE

Eludes Pursuers After Hour for His Burning Was Set—State Troops Now on Hand.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 2.—At daylight this morning the hundreds of white men from the towns and farming communities of Jackson and adjoining counties who had all last night watched the big thicket on the Navidad river, where "Monk" Gibson had taken refuge from his pursuers, began the work of invading the thicket, which is four miles long and from one to two miles wide. Shots and demonstrations about 10 o'clock indicated that the negro had been captured, and word was sent to Edna, the county seat of Jackson county, that the negro would be brought there at once and publicly cremated in the court house square at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Preparations were at once begun by collecting material to be used in the burning.

Early in the afternoon word was received from the thicket that Gibson had escaped from the jungles. Then the man hunt for the butcher of Mrs. Conditt and her four children was renewed with increased determination. Gov. Lanham, at 7 o'clock tonight started two military companies of the Texas National Guard from Austin for Edna on a special train. Some think the governor fears a factional outbreak. Others believe the negro has been caught without the populace knowing it, and the troops are to be used to protect him.

Germans and Czechs Clash.

BRUENN, AUSTRIA, Oct. 2.—Again during all of the day was there rioting between the Czechs and the Germans growing out of the agitation by the latter against the establishment of a Czech university here. The police were unable to repress the rioters and asked for military assistance. During the rioting over 20 persons were seriously injured, one of whom died later.

AGED ALLEGHENIANS ARE READY TO CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. GOETTMANN.

With their seven children and a large number of grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Goettmann on Thursday will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, at the family residence, 1113 Ridge avenue, Allegheny. Mr. and Mrs. Goettmann are old residents of Allegheny. For many years Mr. Goettmann was one of the most expert steel workers in this vicinity. He was the inventor of several improvements that resulted in the saving of time and expense in the manufacture of steel. He was born in Brensbach Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, October 1, 1833, and came to Pittsburgh in 1851, the year before the cholera scourge.

Mrs. Goettmann, who was Miss Regina Diehl, was born in Neider-Hausen-by-Lichtenberg, Hesse-Darmstadt, November 25, 1836, and came to Pittsburgh in 1852. They were married October 5, 1855, in Allegheny, by the Rev. Carl Weiderhausen. Ten children were born to the union, of which seven are still living. They are: Frederick G., Jr., George L., Charles, Harry of Uniontown; Mrs. Amelia Kreiling, Mrs. John Heizenroeder and Mrs. Frank Simpkins of Akron, O. The anniversary will be a quiet affair, only the relatives of the old couple being invited.

as late as May 25, 1905, 'Mr. Ramsey has done the work of three men for the Wabash.'

"Now as to the 'making of my fortune,' which, according to one story, I owe to Mr. Gould. While my 'fortune' is a modest one, and I thank Providence that I am able to take care of my family and live the balance of my life without a salary from the Wabash, I cannot make Mr. Gould a part of that Providence.

"The story is told by Mr. Gould's adherents that Mr. Gould carried $1,000,000 underwriting for Mr. Ramsey in the Pittsburgh-Toledo syndicate. I presume this is where Mr. Gould made Ramsey's fortune. When the syndicate was made up I signed '$1,000,000 J. Ramsey, Jr., and associates.' Mr. Gould asked me a few days later who was going in with me. I said I would get some of my western and Pittsburg friends in; I wanted all I could carry. He very kindly said, 'I will take care of it all for you and charge interest.' I was glad to have him do this.

"About one year later Mr. Gould asked me if I would be willing to let him have $500,000 of my underwriting for Mr. Hyde, as he wanted Mr. Hyde interested. I said if he wanted it for Mr. Hyde, all right; but if it was on account of his being tired of carrying it so long, I would make other arrangements. He said it was for Mr. Hyde and he could not get it any place else. This left $500,000 in my name.

"When the distribution was made Mr. Gould reported that he had only $125,000 for me (he had never asked me to surrender the other $375,000), and he had sold my bonds without authority to a syndicate for buying up the bonds, at an average of 80, when they were about 94 on the street, and had practically compounded his 5 per cent interest on the loan. I closed up my investment with Mr. Gould at about $3,000 less than cost. This is the only financial deal I ever had with Mr. Gould.

"Out of the two syndicates I handled and closed up Mr. Gould will get interest and profit about $650,000 more than he paid in. I think Mr. Gould owes me a little gratitude. As the properties of these two syndicates referred to were not sold to any Wabash interest, none of the money came from any company in which Mr. Gould or I were interested."

Referring to charges of extravagance in connection with the Pittsburgh terminal enterprise, Mr. Ramsey says:

Now, as to the "differences" between Mr. Gould and myself, or rather between our policies, which is the question in which the owners of the property and the financial world are interested, I will state Mr. Gould's words:

"Ramsey, can't I spend my money and manage my property as I please?' and my reply, 'Yes, Mr. Gould, you can spend your money and manage your property as you please, but this is the money and property of a corporation, in which millions of other peoples' money is invested, and as its legal head I must know something about it and be consulted before such large contracts are made by outsiders.'" My letter of March 31 was the cause of these remarks, and it clearly states the reasons for my resignation from the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company (not the Wabash Railroad Company).

When Mr. Gould received this letter he sent for me, and his first words were as above, "Can't I spend my own money?" etc. He then went on to say: "Mr. Harriman does not permit one of his presidents to buy a car wheel." I replied: "Many good railroad men do not approve of Mr. Harriman's system, but he is at least methodical in his ways. He has a director of purchases, an official of the company, and every official knows who is to attend to the purchases, but your way is absolutely demoralizing. One day, you; next day, Mr. Jeffrey; then Mr. Nicoll, and maybe I am meddling with things at the same time." He admitted "it probably is." The conversation took on a more pleasant tone, and at his request the matter was laid over for further consideration.

Within two days after my letter of March 31 was received, Messrs. Jeffrey, Nicoll and the officials of the car company were got together and the contract price was reduced $50,000, because "Ramsey had written a letter." When Mr. Gould admitted to me that my letter had saved this $50,000 to the company I replied: "It might be well for me to write once a week."

Gas Engine Made Such a Racket He Couldn't Think So It Is Enjoined from Service.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MIDDLEBURG, PA., Oct. 2.—Because explosion from a defective gasoline engine disturbed the serenity of the court today, Judge McClure issued an injunction preventing Editor George W. Wagonseller of the Middleburg Post from allowing his power press to run off the regular weekly edition of the paper.

The court house is across the street from the editorial sanctum. The explosions of the engine roared out with such vigor that the judge was disturbed in his judicial ponderings and rather than allow the course of the law to be interrupted he muzzled the press.

FREE VAUDEVILLE IS THE CAUSE OF A FIGHT

Citizens Attack a Medicine Show Professor and a Riot Is Narrowly Averted.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

KITTANNING, PA., Oct. 2.—"Prof." Hartley, who has been conducting a medicine show here for two weeks, was roughly handled and a riot was narrowly averted shortly before 10 o'clock tonight when the police appeared at the show and began tearing down the platform. The destruction of the medicine man's stage was the result of action taken at a council meeting held tonight. Hartley has been paying a license to the borough of $5 a day.

At the council meeting tonight John Wick offered a motion that the chief of police be instructed to remove Hartley's stage. The motion was adopted. Immediately after the meeting Chief of Police Stitt, with several officers, proceeded to Hartley's show and began tearing down the stage. Hartley protested. Argument followed between the medicine vender and A. L. George, president of council.

The epithet liar is said to have been applied to George. James McFarland, a spectator, declared that no man would be allowed to talk to the president of the council in that manner, and his arm shot out. Hartley fell, and is said to have been kicked. Five hundred people were gathered about the platform and some sided with the council and the police, while others thought Hartley was being used unfairly.

A riot was imminent, but the officers calmed the turbulent ones in the crowd, and the crowd dispersed without making any demonstration.

CRITICISM OF THE POLICE

knew about the alleged threat to arrest the men who complained to the police that the club was bogus and being conducted under the Finerty club charter, he said he did not believe that any such threat was made.

It is alleged that when Thomas Powers and other officers of the club went to Superintendent Wallace to get the charter for the Finerty club, which was left with him, they were told if they brought any more complaints of the kind to the superintendent they would be arrested.

Director Moore yesterday stated that the complaint had been investigated by the police and that Wallace reported to him that the whole trouble about the club resulted from a fight among the members. Moore said the police have not and will not try to decide which faction has a legal right to the charter. The courts will have to settle that dispute, and the police are not going to become involved in an internal fight in any club.

On being reminded he had plenty of policemen and other officers to learn whether an organization was a bogus one or not, the director exclaimed with some show of anger:

"Indeed we have plenty of officers and they can find almost anything, but the police are not to settle a dispute between two factions involved in a quarrel."

Moore said he does not know anything about the raid on the Dalzell Republican club in Butler street, near Forty-fifth street, which was closed by Police Inspector Boyle and a squad of officers Sunday night. Wallace said he has not had time to look into the matter.

Robert Clark, an assistant city clerk and one of the officers of the club, and Stephen Stokes were arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license, and four other men, one being Clark's brother, William Clark, a former National league baseball player, and three others were arrested on a charge of visiting a disorderly house.

G. Wash. Moore, superintendent of the bureau of health, who is said by Robert Clark to be president of the Dalzell Republican club, yesterday denied he is the president. Moore said he was president of the club about three years ago, but has not been at the club for several years. Moore stated he does not know who the officers of the club are at present.

Superintendent of Police Wallace will probably be called to account by his superiors for the raid of the Dalzell club. It developed yesterday that Supt. Wallace did not know that Supt. Moore had any official connection with the club when he ordered the raid.

It is stated by a prominent member of the club that the matter will be "fixed up." Clark and Stephen Stokes, who were charged with running the club, were given a hearing before Magistrate Moke yesterday and both held to court in the sum of $500 each. The others were fined $1 and costs, which they paid. It is stated that assurance has been given that the "mistake" of the police will be remedied, and that the cases against Clark and Stokes will not be pressed, also that the club will soon be open again and doing business.

Clark admitted yesterday that he was an officer of the club and also claimed that Supt. G. W. Moore of the bureau of health, and a personal appointee of Mayor Hays, was still president of the club. Clark as secretary and treasurer was asked if Supt. Moore paid his dues to the club and he said: "Whenever we sent him an assessment he paid it. He paid the last one we sent him." Clark said that Moore was elected president about three years ago. Supt. Moore claims he is no longer president, and that he seldom goes to the club except at campaign times.

POLITICAL SITUATION UNDERGOES A CHANGE

Both Hungarian Parties Make New Moves—Believed the King Will Favor Suffrage Reform.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Oct. 2.—The idea is current here tonight that the political crisis is undergoing an important development. Minister of the Interior Kristoffy, who originated the plan to defeat the coalition by the introduction of measures for universal suffrage, has gone to Vienna with Premier Fekervary and Minister of Justice Lanyi for an audience of the king emperor tomorrow. This has given rise to a report that his majesty is ready to abandon his resistance to suffrage reform.

The coalition party is also making a new move. Francis Kossuth, who has only been president of the Independence party, will be elected tomorrow of all the parties forming the united opposition in the diet, and the coalition will tomorrow publish a strong protest against the Viennese attitude toward Hungary.

A BOY THAT FAILED

to make progress at a noted New England academy entered the Groff School recently with several having had similar experiences at other large schools. They were all put into Yale and other large colleges the following September without a condition, one year ahead of their former classmates, and their present standing at college is very high. Mr. Groff's experience with these boys is typical of the success he has had for 15 years.

THE GROFF SCHOOL,
229 West 72d St., New York,

now occupying the most handsome school quarters in New York, is ideal and exceptional as a boarding and day school.

No young and inexperienced teachers to experiment with students.

Absolutely individual attention, the number being strictly limited. No very young boys admitted to main school. Handsome study parlors, billiard room, electric elevator and full and free use of skating rink, bowling alleys, fencing hall, gymnasium, swimming pool, athletic field, etc.

Proper and judicious supervision of the daily life of all students of the school, but all foolish school discipline, military drill and consequent loss of time eliminated. Reopens September 27th.

KAISER SHOUTS "GOOD MORNING"

Dr. A. J. Barchfeld Tells How the German Emperor Salutes His Soldiers.

OTHER SAGE OBSERVATIONS

Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, the new congressman from the Thirty-second Pennsylvania district, who has just got back from Europe, where he attended the Brussels meeting of the Interparliamentary Peace union, is several inches over six feet. Consequently he had an opportunity to make a few observations. He didn't overlook the chance and made these:

In the German army of 600,000 men there were only 12 desertions last year. Kaiser Wilhelm told the doctor and the other Americans that this small percentage is attributed to the fact that the army maintains a canteen.

The German soldier can get 32 ounces of beer for one and one-half cents. Drunkenness is a disgrace, and the proceeds from the canteen enable the men to buy butter and cheese. This amazed the American delegates and in the coming session of congress the canteen in the army is likely to be brought up for re-establishment.

When the kaiser rides out to review his troops he salutes and shouts, "Guten Morgen" (Good morning), and every officer and soldier in the ranks shouts back, "Guten Morgen!"

The American delegates arrived in Berlin on Saturday, September 2, and expected to attend a review of the troops. It rained and the rathskellers were more attractive. On Monday there was more rain. At 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning the kaiser walked out on the balcony of his palace and looking out in the gray dawn across the Spree, decided that the day would be clear.

"Have the troops marshaled at 10 o'clock," he said.

At 7 o'clock the famous Uhlan regiment of foot swung into Unter den Linden and marched down to the Bristol hotel, where the Americans were waiting in their carriages. It was an inspiring sight. Every man in the famous command stands over six feet in his stockings. Officers from the scions of old German nobility in burnished cuirasses and gleaming helmets rode on caparisoned steeds before. A military band of 100 pieces with every man in a glossy shake led the way.

A prince of the royal house rode up, and under his breath gave a command to the drum major. Then the golden beams of the rising sun fell upon a glistening baton. There was a flourish of trumpets, a long roll of the drums and the baton shot up toward the skies. The band struck up "My Old Kentucky Home." Tears of joy came into the eyes of the Americans. Away swung the regiment—the kaiser's own—to join a proud corps of 25,000 men upon the drill ground.

"The music sounded just a little better over there," said Dr. Barchfeld. "It was a tender compliment to every American and it touched me because I remembered that the man who composed that song had come from Pittsburgh—the best city on earth."

LARKIN IS TRYING TO INFLUENCE ORPHANS

Controller Returns and Will Make Effort to Have Fusion Ticket Indorsed.

Controller Larkin returned from the east last night. The controller said his sudden departure from the city last Friday was to see his brother, who is ill at Atlantic City. He denied that his trip was timed to avoid meeting with the Orphans last Friday, and says he will attend the next meeting of the Orphans to make a plea for the indorsement of the Citizens-Democratic county ticket.

The Orphans will hold another meeting on Friday night of this week. The controller would not discuss the Hamilton avenue extension, water meters or other troublesome municipal subjects with which he has not been very successful recently.

THIEVES BREAK INTO STORE AND STEAL $137 FROM SAFE

The police have been notified of the robbery of $137 from a safe in the store of L. Ruben at No. 911 Fifth avenue. The store was entered between Friday night and Sunday morning, the store having been closed for the Jewish holiday on Saturday. The money belonged to C. Nevesky, a storekeeper in the vicinity, who secured Ruben's permission to place the money in the safe because his bank was closed. When Ruben visited his store on Sunday he found the safe door open. The thieves broke in a rear door of the store and then forced open a desk in which the key of the safe was kept. Nothing else in the store was disturbed.

JUDGE M'KENNA HONOR GUEST AT A BANQUET

Allegheny Lodge of Elks Pay Tribute to Federal Judge of Ponce, Porto Rico.

United States District Judge Charles F. McKenna, who presides in the federal court at Ponce, Porto Rico, was the honor guest last night at a banuet given by Lodge 339, B. P. O. E. The affair was arranged quickly by the Allegheny lodge members, who wished to pay a tribute to Judge McKenna, who leaves shortly to resume his duties in the new island possessions. Attorney Richard B. Scandrett acted as toastmaster, and spoke for the Allegheny County Bar Association. His talk was brief, but he expressed the respect and veneration in which Judge McKenna is held by the lawyers in the county.

Perry Shanor, one of the grand lodge officers from Sistersville, talked on the work of the governing body. Charles W. Ashley, a grand lodge officer of Homestead, and Grand Treasurer J. K. Tener of Charleroi, made felicitous addresses. Attorney James E. O'Donnell, past exalted ruler of No. 11 lodge, was also a speaker.

Judge McKenna was heartily greeted when he arose to address the company. Shortly after going to Porto Rico Judge McKenna instituted an Elks lodge at Ponce, and served as exalted ruler for the first year. He is now past exalted ruler, and has the distinction of having instituted the first Elks lodge in the island of Porto Rico. He spoke entertainingly on the progress of the new lodge, and told of the spirit with which the natives entered into it to make it a success.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS OFFICER WHO SHOT MAN

Policeman McAnally of Wall is Released After the Inquest—Peters Was Trespassing.

Officer McAnally of Wall borough was exonerates from all blame in connection with the death of Michael Kurharchik, a foreigner, who was shot and killed during a riot at a Polish ball early on the morning of September 15, by a coroner's jury yesterday. The inquest into the death of Kurharchik showed that McAnally had placed Kurharchik under arrest and that when Officer Miles Riley went to his assistance a crowd of foreigners set upon them and after giving Riley a beating threw him into a creek, McAnally started to run and several shots were fired, and on turning he saw Kurharchik firing at him and he shot him.

An inquest was also held into the death of George Peters, aged 18, of 92 Solar street, Allegheny, who was killed on September 26 by the breaking of a crane at the new Ft. Wayne railroad station in Federal street, Allegheny. The jury found Peters was trespassing on the company's property and that the breaking of the crane was an accident.

Frank Malone, aged 21, a laborer of Shakespeare street, died at 3 a. m. yesterday at the West Penn hospital of meningitis. Malone was injured on September 26 by falling from a Pennsylvania railroad train at Twenty-eighth street.

Mrs. Henry Kratzenberger, aged 30, who was burned in a lamp explosion at her home, Glen and East Fourteenth avenue, Homestead, Saturday, died early yesterday morning of her injuries.

Ignace Hodnick of 231 Smaliman street yesterday identified the body of the man who jumped from a sinking coal boat in the Allegheny river at Aspinwall, on Sunday, as that of Michael Petrinac, aged 45. The man worked for J. K. Davidson & Bro., operators of coal floats at Forty-second street.

James Mulcahy, who was found dead in front of his home, 4 Beidler street, East Liberty, early yesterday morning, died from heart disease. Dr. R. H. Ruch stated Mulcahy had been suffering from palsy and the morgue officials believe death resulted from heart trouble. A post-mortem examination was made at the morgue and it was found Mulcahy's heart was in a very bad condition.

James Fusco, aged 38, a laborer of Perry street, Keating, was run down and killed at 7:10 o'clock last night by a Pennsylvania railroad engine on the railroad crossing in Swissvale.

Anthony Johnston, aged 50, a negro laborer, died last night at his home, rear of 1417 Wylie avenue, after eating canteloupes. He had been sick since last Friday, when he was attended by a physician.

John Reese, aged 50, died suddenly of heart disease at his home, rear of 2101 Tustin street, at 3 p. m. yesterday.

Committee Fails to Meet.

Five members of the committee representing the depositors of the defunct state bank of Bloomfield met in the store of Henry E. Juergens, Liberty avenue and Pearl street, last night, to consider the advisability of meeting the exceptions filed against the report of the auditors. Owing to a lack of quorum and the fact that five committeemen were themselves divided in opinion no action was taken.

OUR Autumn Exposition OF Fashion

TODAY Queen Fashion will be enthroned in her Autumn reign officially ushered in by this great exposition of all new thoughts of dress, both for women and girls, men and boys. There will be three days for sightseeing. Everybody connected with this establishment has caught the spirit of the occasion and there is but one sentiment for all who attend expressed by the word welcome—welcome as cordial as it is hearty.

The Exposition of Feminine Dress

The western half of the second floor will be given over to what may be rightly called a composite exposition—six expositions concreted into one vast display, in which are expositions of French and American gowns, of French and American Tailored Suits, of handsome imported and American Wraps, of French and American Blouses, of handsome and practical Walking Skirts, and last, but not least, a collection of Furs superb in quality and of royal richness.

Not in its lifetime has Pittsburg looked upon such beautiful wraps and dresses as will be on view here today.

Among the several hundred dresses and wraps there will be two dresses which have a peculiar historic interest—one a replica of the gown worn by Crown Princess Cecelia as she entered the gates of the Berlin Palace upon her return from her honeymoon, stands out foremost. The entire toilette consists of a gown, wrap, hat and muff, carried out in cream white and dull yellow. The gown is of white chiffon, embroidered with wild roses, intertwined with goldenrod. The skirt is full with flounces of Valenciennes laces. The coat is a short taffeta strapped garment with large buttons and long postilion coat tails. A muff of white gros grain handsomely embroidered and a hat of white Irish lace over gold, trimmed in waving aigrettes and pompons complete the toilette. The other is a copy of a spangled gown worn by Saharet, the noted French actress. This is the only one in the collection which smacks of the stage, being a white spangled affair with green poppies done in sequins, low neck and train, all carried out in the metallic green and white effect.

That these two exhibits will be the cynosure of all feminine eyes is a foregone conclusion, but there will be many other Autumn fashions for those same eyes, among which may be mentioned—

Waists and Blouses for All Occasions.

WAISTS FROM PARIS: from that dainty little Parisian artist, Corne, whose art is as light and as graceful as a butterfly, beautiful white evening blouses of airy mousseline, garnished with ribbon and embroidery.

FROM NOTED AMERICAN DESIGNERS: a choice collection of afternoon blouses of the fashionable silk, applique taffeta, messaline, exquisitely garnished with lace, appliques, embroideries, with elbow or mitine sleeves in white, pink, peach, apricot, mauve.

SUIT WAISTS of taffeta, messaline, peau de cygne, crepe de chine, in white, black and suiting shades. Waists of the popular plaids, selected with special reference to the solid color suitings. Waists of the pretty soft white wools, in the new embroidered effects, stylish but very inexpensive.

Our Superb Collection of Autumn Attire for Young Ladies and Girls.

While the collection embraces every style of dress for the younger set, while all new thoughts as to trimmings and their application are expressed, our greatest pride is in the fine assemblage of coats for girls of all ages and for young women.

These coats have been selected with a view to meeting the ideas of every young person. You will understand better when we say that we have coats beginning at $5.00 and ranging easily along to $45.00.

There are styles for the four-year-old girl and by steps of a year up to young ladies of 18. There is no becoming style missing. The collection is complete.

An Assemblage of Dress Woolens Fittingly Suggestive of Fall.

This is an exhibit that will attract every feminine beholder—never was there such a color display in woolens—the makers have purloined colors once belonging to silks alone; they have revived the colors and the weaves of a century past; they have even stolen Nature's tones, as witness the new dahlia greens, petunias, rose reds, etc., etc.

And profuse as is the color assortment the variety of weave is no whit behind it—satiny broadcloths to rough tailor tweeds.

Imported chiffon and medium weight Broadcloths. Two of the most desirable weights to be had. A complete assortment of delicate pastel shades—correct for opera coats and evening wear. New shades of blue, dahlia, claret, purple, $2.00 a yard.

French Satin Luxor in plain and Shadow Check effects, one of the new things that is sure of admiration, a soft, lustrous and firmly woven fabric—weights and colors for reception, afternoon and evening gowns, $2.00 a yard.

But were we to attempt to describe the many different dress weaves we would have a giant task before us and even then a half hour spent in the department would give you a far better idea of its scope and the very modest prices.

Suffice to say that no weave that has been approved by Fashion's leaders is wanting, nor are the staple materials which are always in demand from season to season.

Another way to give you an idea of the assortment is to tell you that we have dress fabrics for as little as 45c a yard—and we have others for as much as $9.00 a yard—you can imagine the variety in between.

Our Display of Handsome Gloves for Women.

No one essential of the toilette is more important than that of gloves. Necessarily we have devoted much time and thought to securing the finest and most varied assortment of kid gloves that were to be had—and Europe as well as this country is at our command.

Interesting to every woman of fashion is our collection of gloves suitable for evening wear—gloves of suede and glace kid in 8, 12, 16 and 20 button lengths, gloves cut after the very latest French ideas and shown in the newest shades—gloves from Reynier, prince of glove makers, gloves from Jouvin & Cie, noted throughout Europe for the quality and perfect fit of their gloves. Such celebrated English makes as Dent, Fownes, Fisk, Clark & Flagg are also well represented.

Our Glove Specialties Are

The Warwick, a mannish glove for street wear, $1.00.
The Superba, a French lambskin glace glove, at $1.00.
Velvet Mocha Gloves, two-clasp, at $1.00.
The Victoria, a new $1.25 glove—street shades.

By way of pointing to our variety we cite the fact that we have three different lines of gloves at $1.50 a pair from which selection may be made for street, for dress or for evening wear.

Our Exhibition of Furs.

Furs, always sumptuous in themselves, have caught the decorative spirit of the season. Or is it that Paris has seized upon the present season's liberality in the matter of style to show how exquisitely furs can be treated by her artistic skill?

Some fine specimens are on view—notably a Broadtail Evening Wrap at $1,000.00. A Chinchilla Wrap just from Paris, $700.00. An entirely new style of Russian Sable set, muff and scarf, $1,500.00. Handsome imported novelty coats for Automobile wear at various prices.

But there are scores of other handsome pieces, and hundreds of the more popular styles at the lower prices—for our stock is, above all, a practical one. The most elegant things that Russia in furs and Paris in designs can produce are here for those who want them, yet the coats and wraps at more modest prices are shown in profuse variety. All are of carefully selected furs and made in a worthy manner.

The collection of fur Scarfs is extremely varied and includes everything from the simplest pieces to the most elegant sets.

Even among the medium-priced furs there are garments and pieces in styles that will not be duplicated.

The Magnificence of Our Millinery Exhibit.

Seldom has Autumn fashion in Millinery had a more radiant showing than what will be found today in our millinery rooms.

The very best, the very newest, the most refined examples of trimmed feminine dress hats, reception and carriage hats, together with turbans and toques, will be on view.

There will be models from the leading modistes of Paris, the leading milliners of New York, and there will also be hats of clever design from our own workrooms—both original and assimilations of the leading modes from Paris.

It is the privilege of this department to show exclusive styles in Tailored, Street and Suit Hats and these should have your particular attention.

Among the effects of this exhibition will be the introduction of our perfect stock of finest dress shapes and ready-to-wear and ready-to-trim hats, for prices that are exceptionally modest.

The trimming Department of this millinery section is rich in all the newest conceits for trims such as ostrich feathers in tips, coques, plumes and pompons, also aigrettes. Then there are goura fancy feathers, wings, breasts, autumn flowers and foliage in all the new shades. The new trimmings, destined to be very popular, are gold and silver ribbons, gold and silver laces, gold and silver roses, foliage and insertings.

$40,000 of New Silks and Velvets Have Arrived for This Opening.

Here is a collection of silks and velvets which, were anyone to undertake to see severally in the various foreign manufacturing centers from which the different weaves come, would necessitate a most extensive European trip, as the world's silk centers have all been visited personally by our representative, and the best culled from every gathering.

Novelties from Lyons, such as only Lyons can make, for it seems that this city was predestined to become the great silk center of the world.

Satins from Italy, with the brilliant sheen found only in satins woven from the fibers spun by the silkworms that thrive on Italian mulberry trees.

Velvets from France and Germany.

Charming Warp Print Taffetas from Switzerland at $1.50 to $2.50 a yard.

And last, but not least, American silks—even such silks as Hand-Painted Brocades at $1.25 to $3.00 a yard—for America is fast pushing to the front in silk manufacture.

It is one thing to make a collection of silks of the ordinary sort—but it is quite another thing to collect

Silks That Will Not Be Shown Elsewhere.

The designs of all the novelties we have brought from abroad or had made in America have not been secured by any other Pittsburg store.

Of the Lyons silks we ordered only one, or perhaps two, dress lengths of a pattern. When that is gone it's gone, and there's the end of it. Under such conditions it is very natural that women who like first choice of the exclusive things will come here to select.

A certain Chiffon Velour we have had made especially for this store is 22 inches wide, shown in twenty different shades, and the price is $2.50 a yard. Other Chiffon Velours in various widths, all colors and black, $1.75 to $9.00. This is special preparation for the velvet season which we know to lie ahead.

New and very beautiful is the Moire Chiffon Velutinas for $1.25 a yard—light and fine in textures with little rivers of moire running over the surface.

The Wedding Silk par excellent for October is an Italian Duchesse Satin—rich and lustrous, $1.50 to $2.50 a yard.

Brides who wish something softer will like Messaline Duchess, $1.00 to $1.50 a yard, which is made with no stiffening, yet with all the texture of the old-time wedding silks.

Faille Altesse, $1.00 to $2.25 a yard, is a silk used by many of the Paris dressmakers in their latest costumes in combination with velvet and cloth. It is crossed by slight ridges, so low that they are scarcely definable by the touch.

For coat linings and evening wraps there are wonderful Brocades, $1.25 to $5.00 a yard—some have a glint of gold in them, and are scattered with small embroidered effects.

In addition to those named there is a larger supply than we have ever had before of staple silks, Peau de Cygne and modest designs in fancy silks.

Ours is a silk store planned for Pittsburg particularly, and contains everything nearest to a Pittsburg woman's heart.

Exhibit of Women's Negligee Garments.

This department of the second floor, east, is certainly an attractive spot, not only attractive, but interesting.

Almost any style of house garment will be found there, and many an exclusive style not to be had elsewhere in the city. There are collections from the finest Paris makers as well as American designers, and of these American garments we cannot commend them too strongly; they will vie with anything from abroad.

Every fabric employed in making women's indoor garments is represented. The finest, softest and daintiest silk, cashmere, voile, albatross, embroidered Japanese crepe and silk, plain or quilted, crepe eiderdown and the pretty flannels. There is a wealth of beautiful colors both solid and in artistic combination.

The ease with which the average taste can be suited will be admitted when the statement is made that pretty flannelette dressing sacques or kimonos can be bought for 50c and a gradual rise in price to $75.00 for exclusive garments of silk and lace.

The long garments start at $1.00 for a dainty kimono and rise on easy range to something very elaborate in silk and lace at $150.00.

Whatever you do, don't overlook this exhibit today.

Tuesday, October 3, 1905.

The establishment of a central purchasing agency for the several departments at Washington, which President Roosevelt is expected to recommend to congress, would be in line with the administration's policy to do things in a business-like manner. It has been shown the same classes of supplies are not furnished to the several departments at uniform prices, and the new plan would be in the interest of both economy and order.

Senator Foraker's call on the president yesterday has brought the information again that Mr. Roosevelt will insist more strongly than before on a measure for railroad rate regulation. There is reason to believe he will be satisfied with nothing short of increased power for the interstate commerce commission, subject to review by the courts. The railroad contention for review by the courts before enforcement of a rate as against enforcement pending a prompt review, appeals no more to an intelligent public than it does to the president.

The reopening of the loan department of the Pittsburgh Carnegie library, which has been closed since June, gave pleasure to a large number of persons yesterday. The popularity of the big building at Schenley park was evidenced by the large crowds of readers whose "appetite for books" was only whetted by the enforced period of abstinence. Of course, books can be bought instead of borrowed, but the average person has not the means to purchase al the books he wishes to read. The open shelf feature is a much appreciated supplement to library patrons' enjoyment.

It is not surprising that, following the example of the English insurance companies, German companies are trying to make capital of the investigation now proceeding in New York. The large business done by American insurance companies has always been a sore point with their rivals in England and Germany. In the latter country the condition has led to no little friction, and the long-threatened exclusion of American companies from doing business in Germany may yet take place. In England there is not the same cause for anxiety, and upon their complete reorganization, American companies will doubtless regain their prestige there.

While the statements made at the meeting of the National association of insurance men concerning the soundness of the big companies will be conceded, all of the conclusions drawn cannot be indorsed. The big companies under investigation are able to meet all claims, despite unwarranted dissipation of funds. The conclusion is not that this system is proper, but that the cost of insurance is and has been too high. More money has been collected from policy-holders than they should have been compelled to pay. That is the one large, dominating fact brought out in the discussion and probing of life insurance during this year.

Berlin is menaced by a strike of serious proportions which threatens to involve all branches of electrical work. Already the street railways are crippled and soon there may be no electric lights. Strikes are comparatively rare in Germany and this one is quite out of the ordinary. The abnormal prices of meat and other food stuffs, caused by the German tariff assault on American products, contribute to the situation and are likely to cause trouble among manufacturing industries, too, because wages are inadequate to meet the increased cost of living. The kaiser has a problem before him that will tax his resources and versatility.

Announcement from St. Petersburg that a second Trans-Siberian railway is to be constructed to the far east is interesting, even in the absence of information as to the exact route and other details. Aside from its advantages from the military point of view, the present railway across Siberia is said to have given a decided impetus to agriculture and other enterprises during the three years of its active operation. Its cost was not great in view of the resulting benefits, and the construction of a second line may be dictated by sound business sense. The Japanese may, however, see a menace in it and regret their inability to secure a heavy indemnity.

Another Failure.

Police Superintendent Wallace made a rather noisy protest the other day because the grand jury failed to find a true bill against one Laughren. District Attorney Stewart promptly had the case returned to the grand jury and requested the police superintendent to come forward with the evidence he claimed to have. The grand jury took up that case last Friday, held it over to Saturday, postponed it to Monday and then ignored the bill yesterday because the police superintendent did not produce the promised evidence.

On several previous occasions complaint was made against the district attorney's office. In each case the superintendent of police was given opportunity to produce the vaunted evidence and in each case he failed to "make good." He is failing every day to "make good" in the conduct of the police bureau. It is just possible he is not individually to blame; it may be an incident of the general administrative system. In either case it is unjust to the public, for the public pays for efficiency.

Taft's Coming Report.

Secretary Taft's annual report will be one of the most interesting of the department summaries submitted to President Roosevelt. It will deal largely with conditions in the Philippines and measures deemed necessary to promote their welfare. Aside from the probable recommendation for a change in the Philippine tariff, Secretary Taft indicates his belief in the native capability to participate in affairs of government, at least to the extent of having control of one branch of the legislative body.

Judge Taft is a man of superior intellect and good powers of observation. His recommendations will possess more than ordinary interest and will carry weight. His tour of three months has served for more than merely the rest needed after sitting "on the lid" at Washington. He has been getting in close touch with American interests in the far east, including the underpaid consular service in China and Japan.

Views of Senator Knox.

Senator Philander C. Knox has given Pennsylvania Republicans a bit of timely and judicious advice. He will vote the entire Republican ticket and he hopes every Republican will do likewise. No Democrat ought to be elected in Pennsylvania where a vast majority of the people are Republicans. If there are minor evils, lack of good laws, or lax administration the Republican party can be trusted better than the Democratic party or any other party to correct the faults. This, in brief, is the opinion of Senator Knox.

There can be no doubt about the soundness of Senator Knox's conclusions. The Republican party has nominated honorable and capable men for every office in the gift of the people of this state this year. They should be, and they will be elected. The Republican party has always had the capacity to hear and understand the demands of the people; it has always had the honesty and courage to meet those demands. It will do so now. The Democratic party is an aggregation of divers elements, swayed by cranky doctrines and cannot be trusted with power, for it always misuses it.

Mormons at Loggerheads.

Signs multiply that the mutterings of trouble in the Mormon church are to culminate in, if not a storm, at least a squall or squabble at the conference which meets this month at Salt Lake City. During the last two years an increasing current of discontent and criticism has been directed against the authorities of the church, and more particularly the president, Joseph F. Smith, and his two chief counsellors by the rank and file of the membership. Disclosures at Washington during the Brigham H. Roberts hearing, and more recently the charges aired in the attempt to exclude Reed Smoot from the senate, have opened the eyes of non-official members to the real character of those set in ecclesiastical authority over them. There has been a growing disposition to question the uses to which the vast tithing fund has been put. This fund is composed of the contributions of every Mormon throughout the world. One-tenth of his total income becomes the property of the "church," which in this case is simply a synonym for the "hierarchy." In his recent article on the "Mormon Menace," Senator Shelby S. Cullom emphasized the absolute domination exercised by this hierarchy over Mormon followers, extending to every detail of their daily life.

There is said to be a considerable body of members who have tired of the hierarchy's autocratic rule, realizing that it has brought their church into disrepute with the country at large and given rise to warrantable suspicions of an attempt to control the politics of several western states. While these dissenters have the moral support of the various organizations formed to combat Mormon control, they will have to fight their own battle, in the main, since the issues joined are entirely within the church. At the coming conference an interesting test will be made of just how much power the hierarchy possesses. It is too much to hope President Smith will be deposed, but it is possible that a vigorous protest against some of the more glaring abuses of authority, such as the excommunication of members who become business rivals of high officials, may cause a moderation in the high-handed policy of the powers that be.

Falsifying the Record.

There has been a great deal of lying done by Democrats and their allies in this campaign. Stories have been manufactured out of false fabric and isolated facts have been woven into tissues of fiction to give false impressions. The false charges which appear most popular with the opposition are those affecting the deposit of state funds. The latest example is from the Post. It says:

> Of this $5,591,367 32 was on deposit in banks in Western Pennsylvania. Upon $3,682,000 of the amount the state receives interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum. Upon $1,897,869 32 it receives no interest whatever. This last named amount is deposited in a few political banks through which the bills and appropriations of the state, as a rule, are paid in this section of the commonwealth. Their accounts are, therefore, styled active ones, and this fact is held to exempt them from paying any interest.

Now the Post is not, like its conjutor, the Leader, ignorant of the most commonly known facts in political history and state procedure. When it made the statement quoted above it must have known it to be false. The state treasury operates under the act approved June 15, 1897, which provides for the deposit of public funds in approved banks, which give bond in double the amount of their deposits and pay interest at 2 per cent per annum, except as provided in Section 6, which reads as follows:

> The state treasurer may designate one bank in Dauphin county, two banks in Philadelphia county and two banks in Allegheny county to be known as active banks in which shall be deposited a sufficient amount of the daily receipts to transact the current business of the commonwealth. These active banks shall be required to make all collections for the commonwealth without cost or compensation, and shall be required to pay interest at the rate of 1½ per centum, per annum, on all daily balances.

That is the law and that is the practice. When the Post says: "Upon $1,897,869 32 it (the state) receives no interest whatever," it deliberately falsifies. It does this to create an impression there is something wrong with the state treasury that might be altered by the election of the Democratic candidate, though it opposed putting that candidate's name on the Citizens ticket in Allegheny county. It is a specimen of the unscrupulous statements made in behalf of Berry.

A Pointer for Preachers.

Almost everybody realizes by this time that newspaper advertising is one of the chief roads to wealth and the foundation of every business. To refrain from advertising is a reflection upon one's business acumen. Now the ministers, with their accustomed foresight, are falling into line. According to the correspondent of a London newspaper, a man can be married for less money in Melbourne, Australia, than in any other city in the world, because "ministers advertise in the papers against each other." No better illustration of the benefits of advertising could be found than this. The clergymen having advertised, their business has increased to such an extent that they are able to reduce rates for tying the matrimonial knot. Thus has advertising benefited both themselves and their customers. However, we learn, prices vary from 50 cents to $2.50, according to the length and character of the ceremony, and sometimes, for an additional consideration, wedding breakfasts and flings are thrown in. Rice and old shoes, it is presumed, can also be purchased on the premises to throw after the departing couple.

Here is a suggestion for Pennsylvania clergymen who, with tearful eyes, have watched their trade slowly slipping away from them to their Buckeye brethren. Rates must be cut if Pennsylvania's preachers are to compete with Ohio's patent couplers. Australian advertising methods should be adopted before it is too late. Of course, it is assumed that "ads" will not run too much to sensational display, and that there will not be anything like this: "October clearance sale of all our old and shopworn certificates," or this: "Friday is our bargain day. A souvenir stove-lifter or potato masher given to each bride on this day only." But we should soon become accustomed to the new methods, and as for the women, they would scan the advertising columns with even more interest than they do now, if that were possible.

A young man who had been assaulted and robbed, lay unconscious by the sidewalk for three hours unseen by the policeman on the beat. The question naturally arises whether this officer, like one in the East End sometime ago, was off his beat or visiting in a drug store.

The latest estimate places the number of the sultan's wives at 700. The amount of "mourning" they will consume, at $2 a yard, when the Sick Man finally shuffles off, is enough to make the contemplative married man shudder.

Once the Leader nominated Berry on August 16, soon afterward it proposed to amend the McKinley tariff bill and now it christens Senator Knox as Philip. But the Leader is always ridiculous.

A young woman evangelist in Indiana, who administers the "kiss of peace" to all new converts, may have solved the ancient problem of how to get the men to church.

It is predicted that in five years New York will be the largest city in the world. Not if Chicago concludes to annex the little remaining territory in the state.

There has been a marked collapse in the Berry boom since the Post and Leader refused to have Berry's name put on an Allegheny county ticket.

The young man who took $559,000 for fun, just to show how easy it was, will find it one of the most expensive practical jokes on record.

A Minnesota baker has been fined $50 for selling heavy bread. Now get after the fellows who sell light coal.

The automobile letter-carrier to be used in the rural districts will disappoint many a sharp-toothed canine.

It may be suspected the weather man got this October installment up at Punxsutawney.

A PREACHMENT BY THE QUIET OBSERVER

Much Depends on the Angle of Vision at Which You View Things.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

> The melancholy days have come,
> The saddest of the year,
> Of wailing winds, and naked woods,
> And meadows brown and sear.
> —Bryant.

Where could the gray, grand poet have been when he penned these lines, and those that follow them?

And it is even more puzzling that he should have regarded this as one of his very best, if not his best poem.

But there is no accounting for tastes, especially the tastes of poets, and Bryant's in particular, for it is well known that if he was not actually ashamed of "Thanotopsis" he regarded it as his very worst.

In this the people beg leave to differ with him. It was this masterly poem that introduced him to the world and kept him before it. A larger majority of the reading public only know William Cullen Bryant as the author of "Thanotopsis."

Where is the man or woman who, as schoolboy or girl, has not recited, or oftimes read these stately lines:

> "So live, that when thy summons comes to join
> The innumerable caravan which moves
> To that mysterious realm where each shall take
> His chamber in the silent halls of death,
> Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
> Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed
> By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
> Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
> About him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Surely the gray, grand poet couldn't have been abroad in field or wood when these melancholy lines were shaped and scanned, for of all the seasons of the year, autumn, or fall, is the most heartsome and enjoyable.

Fields are bare, 'tis true, but barns are bulging with richness. Meadows are gray with stubble, but stacks of hay stand like high-raised monuments commemorating fine crops and promising food and fatness to the herds.

Leaves are falling, not in sadness, nor as evidence of failure, but having fulfilled their mission willingly move on, "not as galley slaves scourged to the dungeon," but lightly and cheerily, sporting and dancing in the toying winds, or racing before the storm.

Nor are the birds singing doleful dirges over the departing summer, nor bemoaning the coming winter, but priming their plumage and gossipping pleasantly concerning their flight to the south lands.

There are those, of whom you may be one, who, in the midst of fine September days are craning their necks, and straining their eyes, to see frost and slush, and ice, and even shivering in anticipation of cold winds and freezing weather.

We can hardly imagine our gray, grand poet among these, nor can we readily imagine him in the midst of autumn scenes singing of melancholy days.

He may have been writing of November, and he probably was. But even with autumn dying, and winter unfledged, there is no excuse for melancholy musings and woeful wailing.

But, coming to think of it, did he really take on after such fashion? Hardly, else he could never have become known as the poet of nature. Suppose you turn to the poem, if you have forgotten it since your school days, and read it for yourself.

If you could be made to realize that much, if not most, of your discomfort and unhappiness in this life is due to misapprehension on your part, you would soon learn that this world is surrounded with broad, bright belts, and that much of the mist and haze of which you complain is due to your defective sight.

And then much depends upon the angle of vision at which things are seen. It is an unfavorable or ill-chosen angle that leads you to the conclusion that things are not what they seem.

Has it ever occurred to you that it is the angle of vision that makes objects appear different to different people?

This applies to conditions and to doctrines, as well as to objects and to people.

You may have discovered that religious denominations and political parties are little more than views of the same thing from different angles.

The proper thing is to square yourself with the world and establish correct view points. Unless you do this you cannot rely upon things being what they seem.

Often times you do a friend great injustice, possibly injury, by not viewing him from a proper angle. This may be his fault, but it is more apt to be your own, not that you desire him to appear wrong, but because you have not chosen your view point with reasonable care.

Selfishness is very apt to cause you to locate your point of view to the offside of the proper line of sight, thus making the conduct of your neighbor seem to be wrong when in reality it is right.

Suspiciousness also leads you to think and to believe that things are not what they seem.

As a rule things are all right, and they will appear all right to you if you square yourself with the world and view them at the proper angle.

If you are fond of nature you cannot help being delighted with the woods and fields as you may find them just now.

Spring-time is delightful too, but it is so busy that one cannot rest well. Birds are bustling and chattering about their nests, buds are bursting, leaves unfolding, venturesome flowers peeking at you here and there, and the air laden with the buzz and hum of bees and bugs.

Just now the birds are packing preparatory to their winter vacation, flowers are returning to mother earth, to enrich the soil so that it can bring forth other flowers, and the twigs are drying up in order that the frosts may not freeze them to death.

If you will but take note you will find that nature is preparing for life to come, and not for death.

West Virginia's Pride.

There seems now to be no serious opposition anywhere in Republican ranks to Senator Elkins being sent back to the senate again. Mr. Elkins is a man of stupendous ability and is one of the real leaders of the United States senate. He is a man West Virginia can well feel proud of.—Ritchie (W. Va.) Standard.

OCTOBER.

> She stands upon the silent hills,
> A tender sorrow in her eyes,
> As one whose heart at parting thrills
> With summer's sunniest memories;
> While, waking from her tearful gloom,
> With cheeks on fire and eyes aflame,
> All nature blushes into bloom
> At sound of her beloved name.
>
> * * *
> Back to the world she woos the light
> That died as summer's smile expires,
> And all the fading woods grow bright
> With flashes of her altar fires;
> Yet crowned and pale she walks apart,
> Lips moving in a mute caress,
> And folds above her throbbing heart
> The mantle of her loneliness.
> As sometime when the bloom has fled,
> The light that marked our summer gone,
> When spring's best hopes are ripe or dead
> And life's pale winter purrying on,—
> We stand at eventide aside,
> Wearing the robes we hoped to win,
> And fold our lives in pitious pride,
> All fair without, all scarred within.

OBJECTION IS MADE TO THE BATTLESHIPS

Harbor Master Does'nt Think Admiral Evans' Squadron Should be in North River.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Objection is made by the harbor master to the presence of six battleships of the North Atlantic squadron in the North river. They lie there, stiff as churches, in line from Thirty-seventh street to Sixtieth. But as traffic in that neighborhood does not crowd the water as it does 15 blocks farther down, reason for the objection is not clear to the admiral. The squadron has been a long time on target practice off Cape Cod, and the men and officers are glad to have shore leave, which, from where the ships now lie, can be more conveniently provided than from off Tompkinsville.

Admiral Evans has himself gone ashore, and in a day or two will proceed to Washington. Two hundred men from his flagship, the Maine, are on from 24 to 44 hours' leave—those who distinguished themselves in target practice were awarded five days—and altogether there are today 2,000 jackies and marines in Manhattan. They are in squads of fours and sixes. You see them in the subway, on the elevated, in the surface cars—and all sober, so far. Down the Bowery and in the gas house district around West Forty-second street, they are beginning to boast how many years they have served and are tending generally in the direction sailors usually go when set ashore.

Says Woodruff Has Declined.

John F. Smith, secretary of the Kings County Republican committee, was authority for the statement today that Timothy L. Woodruff will not accept the Republican nomination for mayor if it is tendered to him. Mr. Smith, who is private secretary to the former lieutenant governor, in addition to his position in the Kings organization, is known to be close to his chief, and today's statement was given full credit as being official. "Mr. Woodruff is too much occupied with his typewriting machine industry to bother with politics," said Mr. Smith. "He has told 'Gov.' Odell."

Church Will Teach "Manners."

However awkward the older members of the First Congregational church of Jersey City may be, their children are to become models of both Christian and physical grace, because the pastor, the Rev. John L. Scudder, has decreed that it is high time for all church members to walk erect with their heads held high and their toes turned out. With this in view he has engaged a very graceful young lady to give lessons in "manners" to all who may be in need of them. The instruction begins on Wednesday in the People's Palace, the great playhouse of the church. The children will go through their paces in the afternoon and the older members after dark.

Another Blow at the Canteen.

There was a lively discussion over the law abolishing the canteen at the Methodist Preachers' meeting today. The formal subject announced, however, was "the present outlook for temperance reform," and the speaker was the Rev. Harvey Wood, field secretary of the National Temperance society. Mr. Wood said that the society had a report that in Washington there are 100 speakeasies between the White House and the postoffice. As to the canteen, he said: "Don't you believe a word about what you read about crimes and debauchery and drunkenness and desertions due to the abolition of the canteen. They are part of a systematic campaign to secure the restoration of the canteen."

Semi-Annual Moving Picture.

New York is in the van today. That is to say, it's the semi-annual moving day, and a goodly portion of the 4,000,000 odd inhabitants, having changed their minds, are in the act of changing their abodes. From early morning, wild-eyed men, whose anxiety betrayed them to be husbands and fathers, tried to pierce the gathering mist for a sight of that most illusive of human institutions, the moving man. In many cases a raise in rent drove the tenants out. In others a desire for pastures new drowned the impulse to remain.

Low Death Record Is Broken.

The lowest death rate for this time of the year since the board of health has kept records, 12.75 per 1,000 of population, was indicated in the returns to the department for the week ending last Saturday noon. The figure for the corresponding week of 1904 was 17.14. These figures are based on a population of 3,-903,000, as given by the federal census of 1900, and would be much lower if based on the present population.

No Race Suicide in Gotham.

President Roosevelt's plea for large families has been heard and the bureau of vital statistics announces that during the first six months of the present year there were 50,943 births, as against 47,384 in the same period of 1904. This is an increase of 3,559. Cupid, too, has been busy. In the first six months of 1905 there were 20,768 marriages, as against 19,295 in the same period of 1904. This is an increase of 1,473.

Won His Last Blue Ribbon.

Lord Brilliant, the ex-champion harness horse, three times winner of the Waldorf-Astoria cup at the horse show and winner of nearly 100 blue ribbons in his long career, died recently at the home of his owner, Mrs. John Gerken. He was one of the best horses ever seen in this country, and was trotting bred.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

The first slice of goose had been cut and the minister of the Zion church looked at it with as keen anticipation as was displayed in the faces around him.

"Dat's as fine a goose as I ever saw, Brudder Williams," he said to his host. "Where did you get such a fine one?"

"Well, now, Mistah Rawley," said the carver of the goose, with a sudden access of dignity, "when you preach a special good sermon I nebber axes you where you got it. Seems to me dat's a triv'al matter, anyway."—Philadelphia Record.

Armour Scored His Point.

J. Ogden Armour was talking to a group of reporters about butchers' strikes.

"When the butchers have trouble," said one of the reporters, "is it true, Mr. Armour, that the public pays?"

The meat millionaire laughed.

"Oh, not necessarily," he answered. "Sometimes, though," he went on, "the public pays when the butcher gets in trouble. For instance:

"A butcher had cut off some meat that had been paid for and was carrying it in from the street to his patron's kitchen.

"No sooner did he enter the yard, however, than a big, black dog pinned him to the wall. There he stood terror-stricken, until the mistress of the house appeared.

"'Here, Hero, behave,' she said.

"The dog subsided off, and the woman asked the butcher if he had been bitten.

"'Has Hero,' she inquired, 'hurt you at all?'

"'No,' he replied, 'I kept him off by giving him your chops, and you just arrived in time to save your steak.'"—Chicago Chronicle.

Obeyed Instructions.

The following story is told of Secretary Root's office boy. Said Mr. Root to him one day: "Who carried off my paper basket?" "It was Mr. Riley," said the boy. "Who is Mr. Riley?" asked Mr. Root. "The janitor, sir." An hour later Mr. Root asked: "Jimmie, who opened that window?" "Mr. Lantz, sir." "And who is Mr. Lantz?" "The window cleaner, sir." Mr. Root wheeled about and looked at the boy. "See here, James," he said, "we call men by their first names here. We don't 'mister' them in this office. Do you understand?" "Yes, sir." In 10 minutes the door opened, and a small, shrill voice said: "There's a man here as wants to see you, Elihu."—Cleveland Leader.

Errors in Compliments.

"It is always a fatal mistake to pay a compliment to a woman at the expense of her good looks," said Israel Zangwill. "In London last season a young English swell was caught in the trap of conscientious compliment. It so happened that he was seated at the table between a distinguished authoress and a famous beauty. In an effort to be agreeable to both ladies he said:

"'Am I not fortunate in being thus placed between beauty and talent?'

"'Not so very fortunate,' replied the authoress with a black look, 'since you possess neither one nor the other.'"

Bill Nye's Reply.

The late Bill Nye replied as follows to a correspondent who inquired about his habits of work and life:

"When the weather is such that I cannot exercise in the open air I have a heavy pair of dumbbells at my lodgings, which I use for holding the door open. I also belong to an athletic club and a pair of Indian clubs with red handles. I owe much of my robust health to this.

"I do most of my writing in a sitting posture or on an autograph album. When I am not engaged in thought I am employed in recovering from its effects. I am very genial and pleasant to be thrown amongst.

"I dress expensively, but not so as to attract attention. In the morning I wear morning dress, in the evening I wear evening dress, and at night I wear night dress."—Denver Times.

Advantage of Religion.

While going through Maine, Evangelist Moody happened to be in the town of Waterford, where he heard of John White, who had the reputation of working on Sunday, although all the ministers in the neighboring towns had argued with him and tried to stop it. Mr. Moody decided to try his luck with him, and after a long talk succeeded in convincing him that it was wrong to work on Sunday.

The next Sunday White was in church, and his name was enrolled. In a few days Mr. Moody left the town feeling that he had done a thing which had proved too difficult for others, and that at least one sinner in that town had been turned from the error of his way.

A few weeks later, while driving a load of lumber into the town, White was met by the deacon of the church, and the following conversation ensued:

"Now, Mr. White," said the deacon, "isn't there a difference since the spirit of God has entered your soul?"

"Yes, there is quite a difference," answered White frankly. "Before when I went to work on Sunday I used to carry the ax on my shoulder, but now I carry it under my coat."—Boston Herald.

A Growl and a Cheer.

Cramps' shipyard has made another splendid contribution to the United States navy. We are getting a larger navy than is necessary, but we cannot have a navy of too good ships, and it is a just source of pride to Philadelphians that the greater part of the American navy is a product of this port. The navy, the builders, the nation and the state of Mississippi, which 40 years ago did not expect to be honored on the naval register, are entitled to hearty congratulations.—Philadelphia Record.

Simply Biding His Time.

Mr. Plummer has been very patient under the abuse of his political enemies, and their mud-slinging has been endured in silence by the Republican candidate for state treasurer. But his day is coming. STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

The Rt. Rev. Tikhon, archbishop of the Russian-Greek Orthodox church in America, of New York, spent yesterday with members of the denomination in Pittsburgh. Upon his departure for New York last evening he was accompanied to the Union station by a large delegation headed by the Rev. Alexandroff, rector of the Russian-Greek church in Allegheny. The archbishop, who arrived here yesterday morning from the west, has been spending some time touring the country to visit the churches of the denomination of which he is the head in America, appointed by the czar of Russia.

An effort was made to ascertain the archbishop's views on the international outpost with Japan for peace and its possible effect on the Russian nation, but he refused to say anything for publication. He was outspoken in his praises for the czar of Russia and for the part that the czar and his representatives had taken in the peace negotiations. Archbishop Tikhon was arrayed in his priestly robes, over which he wore a long ulster.

Well Pleased With Conference.

The Pittsburgh delegates to the international conference of the railroad branches of the Young Men's Christian association in America, together with a large number of delegates from the east, arrived in Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock last night from Detroit. On every tongue was the expression that the convention was one of the most pleasant and profitable that the 200 railroad branches of the United States, Canada and Mexico have ever held.

"There were more than 150 delegates in attendance from all over America," said M. W. Callender, general secretary of the Pennsylvania railroad's branches at Pittsburg and Twenty-eighth street, "and throughout the session there was an interest that was not allowed to wane. Col. John J. McCook of New York, as presiding officer of the convention, meant much for the good of the meeting. One of the best addresses ever made at a Y. M. C. A. convention was delivered straight from the shoulder by General Manager Garrett of the Queen & Crescent route, while another able address was delivered by President Ingram of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. Miss Helen Gould was then thoroughout the conference, and her appearance on the platform called forth storms of applause. The Y. M. C. A. is proud of what Miss Gould has done for the work."

The Pittsburgh branches of the Pennsylvania railroad at Pleasure and Twenty-eighth streets were represented by 11 delegates, the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley branch by seven delegates, the McKees Rocks branch of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie by eight delegates, and the Pennsylvania Company Employes' Christian association at Allegheny and Ohio way by General Secretary W. L. McFredrick and Secretary W. E. Mees. Among the representatives of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley branch was W. J. Postlon, president of that association.

"A Eatin' Apparatus"—A Dining Car.

Whether the name is approved by President Murray, Manager of Passenger Traffic Martin or Superintendent of Dining Cars Baugh of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad is not known, but a patron of the road did not stop to ask permission to use a new name for the dining car last evening. He just blurted out to one of the ticket sellers at the Water street station, "Say, is they a eatin' apparatus on the Duquesne train?"

The man meant the fine Duquesne limited, of which the Baltimore & Ohio people are justly proud, and he had doubtless missed his dinner and became so hungry that his appetite caused him to make inquiry for having it satisfied on the way eastward from here. At any rate, he asked the question and was answered in the affirmative by the ticket agent, saying that one of the dining cars giving the splendid Baltimore & Ohio service was operated out of Pittsburgh on the Duquesne limited. The man rushed for the train and was seated at one of the tables before the train had started. He doubtless had partaken of meals on the Baltimore & Ohio cars before.

Farewell Reception for Pastor.

The Rev. William Pitt Turner, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Braddock, was tendered a farewell reception last evening at the church. Mrs. Turner and her aged mother, the widow of the Rev. William F. Lauck, shared the honors with Dr. Turner. A score of those who were residents of Braddock 40 years ago, when Dr. Turner was first stationed there, were present, among them being J. R. Corey, the coal man. Just 40 years ago, a farewell reception was held at the home of J. R. Corey for Dr. Turner.

EX-JUDGE HICE IS CALLED BEYOND

Town of Beaver Again Saddened by the Death of Another Prominent Citizen.

END OF AN ACTIVE CAREER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 2.—Grief over the death of Capt. John F. Dravo was deepened this morning when it became known that ex-Judge Henry Hice had followed him to the world beyond. Death came to Judge Hice at 8:30 o'clock this morning, two days after that of Capt. Dravo. They were the town's two best known men. Although his junior by 15 years, Judge Hice was a warm friend of Capt. Dravo.

Judge Hice's death was caused by paralysis. Until Saturday afternoon it was thought he would recover. It was not generally known that his condition had become worse and the news of his death this morning was a shock.

Judge Hice was the first judge of the Thirty-sixth judicial district and had been a director in the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad since its incorporation. Since retiring from the bench 20 years ago, he had been counsel for the company. He was deeply religious and had been a trustee in the First Presbyterian church for 45 years. He was also president of the Beaver Times Publishing Company and a stockholder in several local industries.

Judge Hice was of German parentage. He was born in Hopewell township, Beaver county, on January 24, 1843. After preliminary instruction at the common schools he received an academic education and in 1857 began the study of law with the late Col. Richard P. Roberts of Beaver.

Immediately after his admission to the bar in June, 1859, he became associated with his preceptor as partner, and continued this relation until the death of the latter at Gettysburg during the civil war, since which date Judge Hice continued in the practice of his profession.

From 1871 to 1877 he lived in Beaver Falls, but in the latter year returned to his former home, having been appointed judge of the courts of the Thirty-sixth judicial district, to which office he was elected the following year, serving until January, 1885, when he resumed his practice.

In 1860 he married Ruth Ann Ralston, granddaughter of John Roberts, and had four children. Mrs. Hice died in 1872, and in 1877 he married Mrs. Sarah H. Minis, daughter of Chief Justice Agnew. He leaves his widow and four children, Burgess R. R. Hice, Attorney Agnew Hice, and Miss Laura Hice of Beaver, and Mrs. John A. Moore of Mansfield, O. The funeral services will be held from his late residence Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. James D. Moffatt, president of Washington and Jefferson college, will be in charge. The interment will be in Beaver cemetery.

PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF CAPT. DRAVO

Coal Exchange, Chamber of Commerce and Methodist Ministerial Association Act on His Death.

As a fitting tribute to one who had won their esteem and respect by years of conscientious effort, the Pittsburgh coal exchange and the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce held special meetings yesterday to pass resolutions on the death of Capt. John F. Dravo, who will be buried from his Beaver home this afternoon.

The coal exchange appointed Capt. W. B. Rodgers, Capt. S. R. Crump, Capt. John A. Wood and J. B. Finley as honorary pallbearers, while the chamber of commerce appointed John Eaton, George H. Anderson, Capt. James A. Henderson and John A. Aldrich. At both meetings addresses were made reviewing the life work of Capt. Dravo.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, which Capt. Dravo assisted in building and organizing, will run a special train to Beaver today shortly after noon. Local members of Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will go to Beaver on this train and attend the funeral in a body.

All Beaver is in mourning and all business houses and stores will be closed this afternoon between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock, while the funeral is being conducted. Floral tributes innumerable have been received at the Dravo home from individuals and organizations with which the deceased was affiliated.

The active pallbearers will be Justice Kurtz, Frederick Davidson, James McKenzie, William Russell, Dr. J. B. Fimstrong, W. S. Moore, J. P. Hartley and Ira N. Mansfield. The Rev. Dr. Appleton Bash of the Beaver Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver the sermon, and addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith of the Christian Advocate, the Rev. H. L. Chapman of Aspinwall, the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, the presiding elder of the Allegheny district, and Capt. Dravo's former pastor and friend, the Rev. E. J. Knox of Greensburg.

THOUGH NECK IS BROKEN YOUNG MAN WILL RECOVER

Homestead Lad Given Up for Dead for Three Months Now Mending at Hospital.

John Klenke, aged 16, son of John F. Klenke of Eighth avenue, West Homestead, is expected to recover after being given up for three months and treated during that time for a broken neck. Three months ago he was bathing at Etna in the Allegheny river, and dived in three feet of water, striking his head on a stone. He became unconscious and was rescued from drowning by companions.

It was thought that Klenke's neck was broken and he was removed to a Pittsburgh hospital, where he was treated until last week. He was then removed to his home, the physicians saying that they could do nothing further for him. He had become paralyzed.

The family called in Dr. C. C. Huff who found there were favorable evidences and the patient was removed to the Homeopathic hospital, where an X-ray examination disclosed that a small triangular bone of the neck supporting the spinal column was broken. This was removed and the patient rallied, and is now expected to recover.

Teachers Draw Their Salaries.

More than 1,200 Pittsburgh school teachers received warrants for their salaries for September yesterday. It is the first money they have drawn since before the summer vacation started. Eighteen teachers, who still refuse to sign the payroll, will not get any salary until they do so. About $100,000 was paid out yesterday, an increase of $7,000, which is incurred as a result of the establishment of class B for increase of salary.

DERBY DESK CO.'S OPENING.

The Opening of the New Office Furniture House Draws a Big Attendance of the Business and Professional Public.

Yesterday the Derby Desk Company formally opened their new salesroom at No. 804 Penn avenue, opposite Arbuthnot & Stephenson's. For the first time Pittsburgh has been given an enterprise carrying an entirely exclusive line of high-class office furniture. The new store was magnificently decorated for the occasion. On all sides the eyes of the visitor were greeted with the glowing shades of American Beauties, which had been interposed with numerous tropical plants and ferns. Amidst the pleasing effect of decorative art the company's display of their one hundred and fifty-five productions was set off to full advantage. No detail had been overlooked b ythe management to bring out with full force the superior and valuable points of their products.

The Derby Desk Company is one of the strongest corporations in the country which manufactures office furniture exclusively. They have retail stores in nearly all of the principal cities of the United States. Their productions are used the world over and are synonymous with highest quality.

POLICE GUARD BIG LAND SLIDE

Water Main Breaks and Excavations Cause One House to Crack and Another Settles.

MOTHER FLEES WITH CHILDREN

A broken water main, caused by the caving in of the sides of a trench being excavated for the new 52-inch sewer in Euclid avenue, near Penn avenue, last night undermined a one-story brick dwelling so badly that it will have to be partly torn down. It also caused the settling of another to such an extent that it may have to be partly rebuilt.

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday evening, while the heavy rainstorm was at its height, a portion of the west side of the sewer trench, 50 by 30 feet, in Euclid avenue, on the south side of Penn avenue, loosened by the volume of water which nearly filled the trench, slowly crumbled and slid into the excavation, causing a small landslide extending back toward the west curb about 20 feet. The weight of the earth broke an 18-inch sewer which added to the flood, and the undermining process was continued until a six-inch water main broke. The force of the water was directed against the eastern side of the trench with the result that first the pavement and later the foundation walls of the two-story brick building were undermined.

J. E. Gilpatrick and family occupy the dwelling portion of the house. Mrs. Gilpatrick was preparing supper, when suddenly there was a loud crack and the wall slowly opened and a rent appeared through which one could thrust his hand, and slowly spread until it extended from the floor to the ceiling. Mrs. Gilpatrick lost no time, but gathered up her two small children and fled to the street.

The trench was down to a depth of about 15 feet and the broken water pipe continued to undermine the earth in the direction of the Gilpatrick house until the arrival of one of the water department inspectors, who cut off the supply from that district. The earth continued to cave in until it had undermined the pavement for a distance of 60 feet. In the yard in the rear of the house a crack, five inches wide and extending from the foundation wall 10 feet into the rear of the yard, appeared, and threatens to develop into a slide which will cause much more damage.

Directly opposite the Gilpatrick home a two-story brick house owned by Albert Blake settled about six inches, and it is feared that it may fall, though the occupants had not moved out at a late hour last night.

The house in which the Gilpatricks live is a two-story double brick, containing two storerooms fronting on Penn avenue, and is owned by James T. Mellon. Thomas G. Cherney occupies the storeroom next Euclid avenue as a barber shop, and was still operating his shop, though expecting at any moment to have to move out.

Shortly after the break in the water main was discovered the gas supply in the neighborhood suddenly gave out, and investigation showed that two breaks in the main on Penn avenue had occurred. All the residents of the district bounded by Penn, Euclid and Negley avenues and Baum street were without gas or water for several hours, and those living along Euclid are still without a supply of either.

A force of 40 men were at work all last night repairing the breaks, removing the earth which filled the trench, and in bracing the walls of the Gilpatrick home. The street was closed after the danger became apparent, and a policeman was stationed at either end of the cave-in to warn pedestrians.

GETS KEENAN TROPHY.

Is Awarded to Captain Riddle by Eighteenth Regiment Officer for Good Work With Revolver.

At a meeting of the officers of the Eighteenth regiment last night Capt. E. B. Riddle was awarded the Keenan revolver trophy, which he won at the field day on Friday, by a score of 70 out of a possible 100 points, shooting over the regulation distance of 25, 50 and 75 yards. Quartermaster Sergeant Frank Steel became the permanent owner of the McNary revolver medal, he having won it two consecutive times, the last time when he made a score of 46 out of a possible 50 points.

Capt. Riddle has won the medal twice in succession and will become its permanent owner if he succeeds in winning it at the trials in 1906. A 30-day extension of the rifle practice season was decided upon to enable about 40 of the men who were unable to attend the target practice held during the summer to qualify.

MR. TAFT ENDS A RECORD RUN

By Fast Traveling He Arrives at Washington in Time for Cabinet Meeting.

REPORTS TO THE PRESIDENT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.

Smiling and in superb health, Secretary Taft arrived in Washington this afternoon over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, after having made a record run across the continent from San Francisco. Mr. Taft went immediately to the war department, and tonight dined with President Roosevelt at the White House, spending the evening there and detailing the result of the congressional party's tour of the Philippines and the orient.

When Secretary Taft arrived in San Francisco last Thursday he immediately left for Washington, it being his desire to be here in time to attend the first cabinet meeting, which will be held at the White House tomorrow morning. Under ordinary circumstances, Mr. Taft could not have been in Washington for the meeting, and special arrangements were made by the railroad passenger service to land Mr. Taft and those members of his party who accompanied him to Washington today.

The fastest average scheduled run from Chicago to Washington is 23 hours. The distance is 788 miles. The actual time of Secretary Taft's run over the Baltimore & Ohio from Chicago to Washington was 18 hours and 57 minutes. The dead time, on account of stops, was 39 minutes, and, deducting this, the actual running time was 18 hours and 18 minutes.

At the station to meet Secretary Taft were Gen. Bates, the acting chief of staff; Gen. Oliver, acting secretary of war; Chief Clerk Scofield of the war department, W. Leon Pepperman, chief of the Isthmian canal commission; Mr. Cromwell of New York, the chief fiscal agent of the Isthmian canal commission, and other officials. Secretary Taft cordially greeted those who met him.

In discussing briefly his trip the secretary said that the natives of the Philippines have reached the point where they can participate in legislation with profit to themselves, and that it will be a good education for them. There are, he added, a sufficient number well qualified to compose one branch of the legislative body.

Speaking of the consular service in China, he said he had made no statement since reaching this country which he meant to be construed as a reflection upon the personnel of the consular service. The American consuls, he explained, are poorly paid, inadequately equipped with clerical help and occupy buildings not in keeping with the dignity of the country they represent. One European country, he stated, had 10 times as many men in their consular service in Shanghai as the Americans. It is a wonder, he added, that this country is able to secure such able and capable men as it has in the consular service in the orient, men who are working hard and conscientiously, when they are paid such low salaries.

evening silks and high-class novelties

Held our opening of "Millinery, Gowns and Fashions in other lines" latter part of last week.

An Opening, you know, according to modern interpretation, indicates that a time has been fixed after which the store is ready to show you complete representation of the choicest and best produced or obtainable in the line or lines announced.

Therefore every day thereafter is practically a continuation, so you can see Millinery and Modes here today and tomorrow as well as the day of the notice.

Today we open the Silk show with rarely beautiful things—weaves, textures, color tones and effects under many names.

Radium, Radium Faconne, Eglantine, Baronette, Radieuse, Byzantine, Pekin Faconne, Glace Faille, Faille Eblouissciente, Moire Chiffon, Moire Chameleon, etc.

We believe you will see more exquisitely beautiful Silks here today, darkest to most delicate tints, than in many years.

The tide of fashionable demand is turning strongly toward silks.

A feature of the occasion will be special lots of rich Silks out on center counters at 50c and 75c.

The "Opening" Silks go as high as $12.00 a yard—and that on a small profit basis.

SAFEGUARDS OF LIFE INSURANCE

Companies Under Fire Are Upheld by President of National Life Underwriters.

SCOVEL MAKES HOT DEFENSE

The regular monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Association of Life Underwriters was held last night in the rooms of the Union club, Frick building. The meeting was the most important to be held this year, as it marked the initial gathering of local insurance men following the election at Hartford, Conn., recently of Charles W. Scovel of Pittsburgh as president of the national association, and William M. Wood secretary of the Pittsburgh association, as a member of the national executive committee. It has always been the custom for the Pittsburgh association to entertain the national president at its first meeting following the convention of the national body, and the fact that this year the new president is a local man helped to render last night's meeting a peculiarly felicitous one.

The regular business meeting at 5:30 was followed by the informal dinner an hour later. At the latter function there were about 150 guests, including several national officers and other strangers. Among the guests were: F. E. McMullen of Rochester, N. Y., national vice president; E. J. Clark of Baltimore, national secretary; John Dolph of Cincinnati, retiring president; R. E. Cochran, chairman of the national executive committee; Justice W. P. Potter of the state supreme court, and James I. Buchanan, president of the Pittsburgh Trust Company. All of the above gentlemen made remarks. The meeting was presided over by E. A. Clark, president of the local association. Chief interest centered around the address of President Scovel, whose subject was "Some Special Safeguards of Life Insurance." He said in part:

Lived Where Banks Would Have Failed.

Let me take the bull right by the horns. Let us suppose for the moment that all the insurance officials who have been lately under fire from either Boston or New York are now and long have been either thieves or grafters. Let us suppose that a every dollar that is even suspected to have been wrongfully kept from or taken out of the treasuries of the companies has been actually so taken and is never to be recovered. Nevertheless the incontestible fact remains that each of the companies in question is going right on with its normal function of paying death claims and all other obligations without quibble or delay. Nor is it seriously charged from any reputable quarter that there has been the least impairment of the reserves that guarantee the like fulfillment of all outstanding contracts as fast as they mature.

In view of these facts, one of two things must be true: Either these officials are not the thorough-going rascals they are accused of being, or else there must be some safeguards peculiar to the life insurance business that make looting and wrecking exceedingly difficult. What bank, if for years past officered by rascals, would not have been looted long ago? And what bank, even though honestly managed, could, through months of such hysterical clamor, keep its doors open and continue to discharge its normal functions?

Guarded by Legal Reserve.

Even though most men are honest, as I believe, safeguards are necessary both to head off the occasional dishonest man, and even more to keep honest men from being tempted beyond their strength. The safeguards of true life insurance goes still further and guard against the ignorance and incompetence that have brought and are bringing disaster to thousands of homes through plans of so-called life insurance that ignore nature's laws of life and death.

The great, fundamental safeguard lies in the legal reserve system itself. Those scientific and astute laws compel every company at all times to maintain absolutely intact the full legal reserve that covers the exact present value of all its outstanding policies. That is to say, this legal reserve, with its interest and the premiums on outstanding policies, is the full amount needed to pay every one of those policies as they mature year after year, and this without writing any more new business. If the assets of any company, as valued by the state officers, fall one dollar below this requirement, the law declares the company insolvent and forbids it to issue a single new policy. Nothing approaching this drastic standard of solvency is set for any other business or financial institution.

Let us see what this means in round figures. The 79 ordinary companies, as shown by the Year Book of 1905, had on January 1 last assets of twenty-two hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Of this total, nineteen hundred millions constitute the legal reserve, every dollar of it required by law to be there. That is 84 per cent of the entire resources. Three per cent more covers all the other liabilities and must also be on hand for solvency. That leaveas only the modest surplus of 13 per cent, as the fund for dividends to the policyholders. True, that modest surplus of 13 per cent amounts to three hundred millions of dollars, and that is a sum worth stealing. But the wildest assailant of insurance officers does not think them fools enough to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, as they would do if they stole all of this surplus and thereby had their doors closed for insolvency.

While I believe in improvement and extending safeguards in every direction, provided they be wisely framed and so as not to impede the fullest usefulness of the companies, I can say boldly that if American life insurance should go on for the future exactly as it has in the past, without other additional safeguards than its own management is ever seeking to effect from within; if it simply makes in the future a record as good and no better than it has made in the past, it can fully maintain its position as the most valuable of all business institutions to the family and to the state, one whose actual results are far beyond its cost and well worthy of the high type of brains, energy and integrity that have pre-eminently distinguished its management in the past.

Speaks as a Policyholder.

Justice W. P. Potter spoke from the standpoint of the policy holder. That side, he said, was the only one he knew. In reference to the control of insurance funds, he said:

Insurance funds are trust funds in the highest and holiest sense of the term. And as such they are entitled to the surest and most absolute protection which it is possible for the law to throw around them. If the depositors in savings banks are entitled to the protection of the law, in limiting the class of securities in which their funds are to be invested, much more are our funds entitled to protection of the same kind and degree. The law ought to be made mandatory that insurance funds be invested in the very safest of securities, of the class recognized as suitable for trust funds. The law should specify, just as is done for savings banks, the class of investments which may be made, and not one step beyond its barriers should any set of managers or directors be permitted to go.

Insurance is the establishing a relation of trust and confidence. It is an agreement whereby the company undertakes to become my trustee—to take my funds and invest them for me carefully and wisely and pay them, with the accumulation, to myself or my beneficiary. The arrangement is a sacred one, intended to reach beyond the bounds of life, and to make provision for loved ones, when the supporting arm of husband or father has been stilled forever. Such service is not a mere matter of bargain and sale. It stands upon a higher plane altogether. And the law so regards it, for the law of trusteeship is administered with more strictness and severity than any with which we have to do.

Robber Caught in the Act.

Frank Christy was held up at the point of a knife by Frank Saurent at Sixth avenue and Webster street early this morning and robbed of $4 66. Police Capt. Thomas McCabe witnessed the robbery and arrested Saurent after a battle. Both the men are Italians.

JEROME MAY ASK FOR GRAND JURY

Extraordinary Sitting Probable to Consider Life Insurance Scandals.

FIGHTING THE HYDE TRANSFER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—District Attorney Jerome appeared before Justice Davy in the criminal branch of the supreme court when that court was reconvened this morning and asked that the June term be extended until Thursday in order to give him a little more time in which to determine whether or not he would find it necessary to move for a special grand jury to be appointed to investigate the affairs of the Equitable Assurance society and other insurance matters. Mr. Jerome said that he would need an "extraordinary" grand jury to help him in his insurance investigation.

The transfer of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society from James H. Hyde to Thomas F. Ryan was attacked in an amended plea filed on Saturday with the attorneys of the society by counsel representing Herbert G. Tull of Philadelphia. Mr. Tull's suit was to determine the ownership of the surplus of the Equitable society. The amended plea stated that Mr. Hyde could not give a good title of the 509 shares of stock to Mr. Ryan, because it was merely held in trust for him until he was 30 years old, which age he had not yet reached. Thus, it argues, Mr. Ryan was unable to give a good title to the stock to the trustees, Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan, J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse.

LINCOLN, NEB., Oct. 2.—The state department of insurance was today asked by Clarence H. Venner, former president of the American Water Company and late owner of the Omaha Water Company, to inform the New York Life Insurance Company that it could no longer transact business in this state until President McCall and Vice President Perkins have been removed. Venner is a New York Life policy-holder. He has written to McCall, demanding that he resign.

READERS BY THOUSANDS FLOCK TO THE LIBRARY

Loan Department Opens First Time Since June—Open Shelves Please Hundred o' Patrons.

The loan department of the Carnegie library, the only department that has been shut down because of the building now in progress, opened yesterday with a rush. All day men, women and children flocked up to the desk, deposited the books they took out last June and drew other reading matter. Business was lively in the morning, but after school hours and last evening all the girls at the desk and among the stacks were kept extremely busy.

The open shelf department was tried on a small scale for the first time in the history of the library. The books of the loan department are at present in the open shelf room and temporarily only one wing of the room has open shelves. "Open shelves" means shelves on which are books among which patrons can browse at will, picking out whatever book they want to read. To many persons this process of selecting is more interesting than looking over the dry pages of a catalogue. A book thus selected can be taken home by following the routine observed in the regular loan department. Hundreds used the privilege yesterday.

The new building will furnish extraordinary facilities to children, several rooms being devoted to the use of the youngsters. The school duplicate collections will be housed there, as will be the home libraries. In the same wing is the teachers' room, where public school teachers can study books pertaining to their profession. As Librarian Anderson Hopkins said yesterday, the atmosphere of the room will be made as informal and comfortable as possible for the teachers.

M'ARDLE TAKES OFFICE.

New President of Amalgamated Association Assumes His Duties.

P. J. McArdle of Muncie, Ind., the new president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, assumed the duties of his office yesterday morning. His advent was without ceremony. Former President Shaffer turned the keys over on Saturday and some time ago administered the oath to Mr. McArdle. So far the latter says he has decided upon nothing positively.

Some time today Mr. McArdle will meet with the four vice presidents, Thomas Williams of Vincennes, Ind.; J. W. Rutledge of New Albany, Ind.; Llewelyn Lewis of Martins Ferry, O., and Walter Larkins of Martins Ferry. A plan of work will be outlined by the five.

DINOCHOERUS IS CREATURE'S NAME

Existence of Heretofore Unknown Beast Dug Up by Carnegie Museum Expedition.

FIND MANY STRANGE BONES

The Carnegie museum has made a great discovery. It has dug up the existence of an animal which nobody knew ever existed. It is true that the beast has been extinct many, many years, and that the only remains are fossilized, but that does not detract from the glory of the discovery.

The new fossil was a hog-like animal, as big as a hippopotamus. Its bones lie in Western Nebraska, but some day they will rear themselves in all their porcine-like proportions in the Carnegie museum.

Last spring O. A. Peterson was sent out at the head of an expedition to explore Western Nebraska for fossils. Recently Mr. Peterson wrote that his expedition had discovered the bones of the animal above described. Mr. Peterson named the fossil for Dr. W. J. Holland, director of the museum, and the petrified skeleton rejoices in the name of dinochoerus Hollandi. "Big hog" is a good translation of the coined Greek word "dinochoerus." The skull of this pretty creature is about three feet long and almost perfect.

Dr. Holland has heard from other leaders of the four expeditions which the Carnegie museum sent out, two to Montana, one to Wyoming and the fourth to Nebraska. Percy E. Raymond, who had charge of one of the Montana parties, has just returned, reporting phenomenal success. The others will get back in November. Earle Douglas has been quite successful in his search for vertebrate fossils in Western Montana. W. H. Utterback reports the discovery of an almost entire skeleton of a brontosaurus, a huge lizard. With this material added to that already in possession of the museum, it will be possible, Dr. Holland said yesterday, to erect a skeleton of the brontosaurus, which will be "more complete than the one in the American Museum of Natural History in Central Park, New York. Mr. Utterback also reports the discovery of a smaller dinosaur of a special not known. In the same fossil quarry in which the Holland big hog was found Mr. Peterson found several specimens of rhinoceroses and of huge ground sloths allied to the megatherium and large quantities of the remains of creatures allied to the horse and the ancestor of the modern horse. From the descriptions given by Mr. Peterson, his discoveries are regarded as the most remarkable made in recent years.

Dr. Holland will sail from New York on Saturday in the steamer New York, accompanied by his younger son, F. Raymond Holland. He will attend the ceremony of the installation of Andrew Carnegie as rector of St. Andrew's university on October 17. He expects to reach St. Andrew's on the afternoon of October 16, the day before. Returning, Dr. Holland will sail on November 1, on the Baltic, the same steamer on which Mr. Carnegie will return. The time between the installation of the rector and his own departure for home Dr. Holland will spend in London conferring with scientific men and learning all he can of new scientific discoveries for the benefit of the future work of the museum.

SUIT CASE MYSTERY SEEMS NEAR FINISH

Boston Police Think They Have Solved the Case and Expect Arrests Today.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—What the police consider an important and promising clue to the solution of the Winthrop dress suit case mystery developed tonight. The officers believe they have learned the name of the man who bought the two dress suit cases and have secured a photograph of the suspect. An arrest may be made tomorrow.

The man is the manager of the office of a Tremont street doctor, whose place of business has for some time been under the surveillance of the authorities.

The photograph of the physician's office man has been shown to two pawn brokers and to Timothy Howard, a cabman, and all have identified the photograph as that of the man for whom the police have been searching.

VICTORY IS SURE, SAY REPUBLICANS

Men from all Over the County Bring Good Reports, and Citizens Are Discouraged.

MORE DISGUSTED DEMOCRATS

The Republican campaign in Allegheny county is in full swing, and although no public meetings have been held the Republican candidates and the officers of the county organization are well pleased over the evidence of future success which continues to pile up. The first big mass-meeting will be held on the evening of October 14, in Old City hall, but already much good work has been done and before that date much more will have been accomplished.

The candidates, the officers of the county committee and the campaign committee met yesterday afternoon. Success is certain now and it is not doubted by any present at yesterday's meeting that after thorough canvassing the election of the Republican candidates will be apparent even to the opposition, although even now it is discouraged by the outlook.

About 40 men were present at the meeting yesterday afternoon. They came from all over the county and every one reported the brightest kind of an outlook. The same men will meet every Monday at 3 p. m. The candidates accepted an invitation to attend a meeting to be held tomorrow night at the rooms of the Elliott Republican club in Steuben street.

The program for the Old City hall mass meeting has not been perfected, but prominent speakers will be secured and a big crowd is expected.

It was reported yesterday that the Orphans' central committee would meet this evening, but W. H. Stevenson, the chairman, said the meeting would not be held until the latter part of the week.

Men who were appointed on the Democratic committee on speakers and meetings are already sending in their resignations. Joseph McClure declined to serve, because, he said yesterday, "the Democratic party has been swallowed up by Bigelow, and so long as he controls the affairs of our party no Democrat should support his ticket." E. E. Kiernan and John C. Bane have told their friends they will not serve on the committee. F. H. Guffey, one of the appointees, is in Alaska.

The Citizens party of Allegheny county yesterday filed nomination papers in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg for the entire Republican state ticket. The Socialist and the Socialist-Labor parties also filed nomination papers for separate state tickets and it is expected the usual contest in the local courts will follow, to determine which of these parties is entitled to the use of the appellation "Socialist."

The Lincoln party has until tomorrow, which is the last day for filing the papers for its state ticket.

It was reported yesterday that ex-Alderman E. L. Braun and Joseph Stewart, ex-legislator, had secured the patents to the party names "Citizens" and "Independent" in Allegheny, and that Stewart would be a candidate for mayor, expecting to get the support of the Federation of Churches. Braun and Stewart both denied that they had patented the two party names, and Stewart said he had no intention of becoming a candidate for mayor and had had no dealings with the Federation.

CREATORE STILL DRAWS.

Disagreeable Weather Fails to Have Any Effect on Exposition Crowds.

Creatore and his band began the second week of their engagement at the Exposition last night before a good-sized audience, even the disagreeable weather failing to keep the people away. The program included a number of works of the most famous composers, and during both the first and second parts there were outbursts of enthusiasm. Tonight will be French night at the Expo, and a number of the most popular of the French works are included on the program.

For this afternoon Creatore will conduct the band through a pleasing program. There are a number of selections of the lighter order for today's visitors, among them being Creatore's march, "Teasing Hearts;" Herbert's march, "Baltimore Centennial," and some ballet music. Tomorrow night will be Verdi night, and Friday night Wagner night. The programs for this afternoon are as follows:

3 P. M.

March, "Teasing Hearts" ..... Creatore
Overture, "Poet and Peasant" ..... Suppe
Spanish Serenade, "La Paloma" ..... Yradier
Chorus from "I Lombardi" ..... Verdi
Gems of Stephen Foster ..... Tobani

4 P. M.

March "Baltimore Centennial" ..... Herbert
Intermezzo, "Nalla" ..... Delibes
Trombone solo, "Allee" ..... Oscar Sig. Forcellati.
Ballet music, "Nigron" ..... Nevin
Ballet music, "Excelsior" ..... Marengo

SHOULD PAY UNDER PROTEST.

That Is the Advice Given Royal Arcanum Members by National Legal Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—In a statement by the legal committee of the national executive committee of the associated councils of the Royal Arcanum, issued to members of the order today, it is advised that members refuse to sign blanks tendered by the supreme council, because signing would practically be an assent to the change of rates of assessment.

It is advised that members tender the old rate of assessment, and if refused by the collector, a written protest should accompany the payment of the new rate. The legal committee presents a form of protest to follow, and renounces any responsibility in the action begun in Tennessee and Ontario.

COMMISSION PAYING ITSELF $166,600

First Installment of Filtration Bonds Are Redeemed Out of City Sinking Fund.

The sinking fund commission of the city yesterday paid itself the sum of $166,600 for filtration bonds which the commission purchased, and which it also redeemed yesterday, the bonds maturing on October 1. This was the first installment of the $1,650,000 worth of filtration bonds which the sinking fund commission bought from the city on June 1, the balance of the $2,000,000 issue going to the Union Trust Company.

The bonds are dated October, 1904, and the first annual installment fell due yesterday. The bonds were bought by the commission at par and it receives 4 per cent interest on the investment. The balance of the bonds which the commission took will mature in annual installments until 1943.

There will be another $2,000,000 issue of filtration bonds next year, on June 1, and the commission is already figuring how much of the issue it will be able to take. It will probably not be able to take more than half the amount it bought this year. The sum of $62,600 was deposited yesterday to the credit of the sinking fund commission, this amount being the earnings on invested funds due October 1.

HALL COULDN'T HOLD CROWD.

Shakespearean Lecture Draws Large University Extension Audience to Conservatory of Music.

Six or seven hundred people heard the first of the season's University Extension course of Shakespearean lectures by Prof. Richard G. Moulton, of the Chicago university, last night at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music in Dithridge street, and more than 100 were turned away. Every seat and the aisles of the auditorium were filled, and many women, as well as men, stood up during the lecture. The overflow brought the managers of the University Extension lectures to the resolution that larger room would have to be secured for the lectures that follow, and a committee was appointed last night to secure some other hall that will afford at least double the capacity of the Conservatory of Music. This committee expects to have another place for next week when the second of the course of lectures by Prof. Moulton is to be given. The Bellefield Presbyterian church or some other church in that vicinity will be secured if possible.

Do Away With Food Adulteration

The People Have a Right to Know What They Are Eating, and They Demand That Right.

In an article in this paper recently we called attention to the necessity for uncompromising pure food laws and a stricter enforcement of such laws as now forbid the adulteration of food products. Our expression of the opinion set forth at that time merely reflects the demands of the intelligent, thinking people of all communities throughout the country.

Too great attention cannot be given to the food article. We are entitled to know what that food is, how it is made and what process it has passed through before reaching our tables. We are entitled to know whether it is all pure or whether foreign ingredients have been put into it to cover up some insufficiency or impurity. The health of our families depends on this food. Shall we safeguard ourselves or are we to submit to the atrocities of the food manufacturers?

It is of interest to note that there is at least one article of food about which we can know everything. This is Malta-Vita, popularly called "The Perfect Food," the pure, all-grain product.

Every element of food necessary to the proper nutrition of the human body is found in Malta-Vita. Scientists declare that these food elements, the elements of the whole of the best white wheat, are the identical elements of which the tissues and cells, the bone and the brain, the blood and the muscle of the human body are composed and with which they must be replenished if life and strength are to be sustained.

In the manufacture of Malta-Vita the whole of the wheat is thoroughly cleaned, cooked in the purity of absolute cleanliness and then mixed with the finest malt extract, made from specially selected barley. The cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes the starch, and the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, converts this starch into Maltose, or malt sugar, in which Malta-Vita is very rich. Maltose is of great food value, sweetens the wheat sufficiently to make unnecessary the use of any foreign sweetening agent, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort. Rolled into wafer-like flakes and baked under intense heat, Malta-Vita comes from the ovens crisp and brown, positively the most delicious food in the world. Always ready to eat.

Try Malta-Vita with cream or fruit. There's nothing better for breakfast, and it's good three times a day. Now 10 cents, large package, all grocers.

HUMPTY DUMPTY A MASSIVE "SHOW"

Vaudeville Has a Brilliant Opening at the Grand—"Checkers" Comes Back—Melodrama.

BURLESQUE OF USUAL KIND

The feature of the day's theatrical news yesterday was the successful re-entry of the Grand opera house into the amusement field, after a record-breaking run on the part of manager, contractors, decorators and furnishers, who have labored night and day to pull a beautiful white entrance way from Fifth avenue into the undamaged playhouse. A bill of extraordinarily high-class vaudeville was witnessed by large audiences, and Harry Davis received the congratulations of a host of friends. "Humpty Dumpty" proved an immense beauty spectacle. "Checkers" had a cordial welcome. Bob Fitzsimmons punched a few skillful holes into the drama. Howard Hall is now a "Millionaire Detective," and burlesque reigned at rival houses.

Grand—Lafayette and Vaudeville.

Harry Davis was the star in the continuous vaudeville bill at the opening of the Grand opera house yesterday afternoon. Of course there was Lafayette, the Great, and a score of other people who do the usual thing before the footlights, but the man who did the Phoenix act of rising up out of the ruins of the old Avenite theater and placing a magnificent front door on the Grand in five days, accomplished a "lightning change" which has not failed to make an impression on the theater-going public. It was not a new stunt for Harry Davis. More than once he has brought order, beauty and an environment of luxury out of chaos. This time he has provided a splendid entrance for his theater with beautiful frescoes, myriads of dazzling lights and the soothing effects of floral decorations where on Saturday were unsightly wooden scaffolds and bare steel trusses.

The patrons of vaudeville were on hand in goodly numbers to greet Manager Davis on the reopening of his playhouse. The effects of last spring's fire are not apparent in the interior of the Grand and the auditorium is just as cosy and comfortable as ever with the deft work of the decorator and upholsterer to mark the care which has been taken to preserve all the original scheme of the former embellishments.

In speaking of the bill it is always necessary to bear Lafayette in mind, but his work, because it is more or less familiar, is best as a standard to judge of the other attractions. Those who heard Miss Sabel Johnson's singing will not soon forget the sweetness of her voice or the tender cadences of her words in a southern medley of Stephen C. Foster's immortal songs. Harry Davenport's monologues are of high character and his work is over the heads of many patrons of variety theaters. This accounts alone for the fact that he received comparatively little applause yesterday. He is an actor of sterling worth and his impersonations of an English chappie and a country curate are delightfully portrayed. The Nichols sisters—why, the very sight of them gives you an appetite for 'possum and sweet potatoes! Bertie Fowler has a dainty monologue that is every word original and abounds in things out of the ordinary. Rosaire and Doretto have some new tumbling acts and Al. Coleman strikes up some new mimicry. Marie Laorent sings in soubret fashion with trade-marked enthusiasm. An effective little one-act skit abounding in quaint comedy and homely philosophy is presented by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Truesdell. Russell and Tillyne furnish the rough and tumble business that is refreshing after magic, good music and legitimate comedy. These are a few of the better numbers that are offered. Lafayette's reception reaches its climax in his living caricature of Creatore which is even better by being timely. He has an augmented company and his work throughout abounds in new mysteries and surprises.

Nixon—"Humpty Dumpty."

This big Drury Lane spectacle that Klaw & Erlanger have had Americanized by John J. McNally, Frederic Solomon and Cole and Johnson is truly a big and beautiful feast for the eye. The true English pantomime is more strictly adhered to in this latest importation and as a consequence there is a subordination of farce comedy and a pictoral glorification of our old friends, Columbine, Harlequin, Pantaloons and Pierrot. In this latest spectacle also we have some exceedingly fine acrobatic work in which the famous Schrode brothers, Madeline Seville W. Faibles, David Abrams and Joseph C. Smith take active part. Frank Moulan as the cook furnishes the comedy, and in personal work it is exceedingly clever. His songs, especially "Men," scored heavily. This being a pantomime spectacle, however, Mr. Moulan is somewhat lost in the bigness of the rapidly moving pictures. Maud Lillian Berri is strikingly handsome as a Prince and seems to gather new physical charms with every change of beautiful costume. Her songs, "Mexico" and "Kisses" received a number of enthusiastic encores. Nellie Daly, John McVeigh, Diamond Donner, Augusta Greenleaf, George Schiller and Ceballos contributed beauty, fun or acrobatics to the small, but adequate working cast. It is in the sumptuousness of its stage pictures, the variety and beauty of its myriads of ballets, dances, figures and marches that "Humpty Dumpty" excels. In these and in the transformation scenes, flying ballets and fairy wonders that the spectacle becomes the most massive of its kind. The "Grigolatis" in the flying ballet, have been given new devices and the beautiful scene in the kingdom of Neptune at the bottom of the sea is one of the most charming and artistic stage pictures we have ever had in the imported pantomime.

All the scenes are richly and newly costumed and as an eye festival the piece is wonderfully beautiful. The accompanying music is nowhere distinctive, if it be not really inferior, but Cole and Johnson have contributed some song airs that redeem the music of the score. The finale is lacking in force, perhaps, the big wedding cake not being destinctive except in the variety and magnificence of the costumes of the coryphees. Specialties abound throughout the progress of the fairy story, one of the best being a Bowery song illustrated by a half dozen or more little tots as Bowery denizens.

Alvin—"Checkers."

"Checkers" will be one of the "Uncle Tom's Cabins" of American comedy. With Tommy Ross—the juvenile star who was so long a popular favorite in Pittsburgh—the play attracted a world of attention. With Hans Robert as a substitute for "Tommy" the play loses little. In every scene he measures up well to the originator of the role of "Checkers." He looks not unlike Mr. Ross, and with the original company at his back the famous comedy of the race track loses nothing in its presentation at the Alvin. In consequence it can well be said that "Checkers" is the best thing that has been offered at the Alvin this season. While Mr. Robert looks like the original star and while he acts with some of the same mannerisms he lacks the irrepressible ginger which characterized the style of the first "Checkers." The boy who has lived in the shadow of the mile track and whose fortune or ruin depended upon a "neck" naturally must be possessed of all the vivacity and "go" that can inspire the soul of man. Just as much as he lacks this just so much must he lack in being an ideal "Checkers"—as Henry M. Blossom's "Checkers," Mr. Robert does lack some of this—but just a little. A big audience at the Alvin last night was immensely pleased with the performance and the people drew no hair lines on the standards of stars. Of the other members of the company there is nothing to be said but praise. There are three or four other star roles. Dave Braham, Jr., is still "Push" Miller; W. T. Clark reprises as Judge Martin, and Charles Miller is the same unctious "Uncle Jerry." Miss Lydia Dickson is Cynthy, and poor Cynthy is still the sunbonnetted farm maid. Miss Katharine Mulkins is just as pert as ever, and—but why go on? The performance is practically the same as that which delighted us last spring and brings back all the significance of that "Checkers" classic: "It's hell to be poor."

Empire—Robert Fitzsimmons.

"Lanky Bob" Fitzsimmons, 365 times a fighting hero inside the ropes, was responsible for the "Standing Room Only" sign that was displayed at the Empire early in last evening's performance. Pittsburgh evidently has not forgotten that "Bob" literally fought his way to popularity. Hundreds of his old admirers, who are rarely seen at the uptown theaters, were there last night to give him an old-time welcome, and when he appeared in the intermission of the third act, and declared that he had turned from a fistic performer to a stage defender of woman's honor, he received an ovation that would make his former combatants green with envy. In the new Hal Reid play, "A Fight for Love," where "Bob" is the chief attraction, things are just a bit mixed, according to the old-time regulation tactics of the melodrama. Nobody's nerves flutter except those of Amelia Mayborn, who, by the way, has a personality and voice that would be any old maid's fortune. The love making is on a new plan, for the vivacious and decidedly pretty Julia May Gifford is a new type who is so captivated with the big boxer, that she attires herself in jaunty trousers that she may see the "mill." But the treatment of the villain, William G. Slider, and his accomplice, Francis T. Charlton, the blacksmith's helper, is the most astounding variation from melodramatic lines. In "Bob's" play the villain has no show at all. He is boxed, cuffed, insulted, knocked down and knocked out without once getting even a hand clap for any of those villainous deeds that usually bring forth a roar of hisses from under the roof. "Bob's" villain aids him only in showing up some of his old favorite punches and bringing out the chivalrous elements in his character, which, according to his modest declaration last night, are now his chief stock in trade. As for "Bob" himself, he struck his customary attitudes, battered the punching bag five minutes, ending by sending it off on a tangent into the gallery, and "made good" in his comparatively new role of a "natural born actor," as well as showthat he can make and put on a horseshoe as quickly and neatly as the most skilled knight of the forge. The company that supports him is worthy of the honor. Fannie Argyle, a designing woman of the world, has a stage presence that would gain her a creditable mention anywhere, and "Bob's" coachman, J. Frank Ely, is a source of intense amusement at times.

Bijou—"The Millionaire Detective."

Howard Hall has a new melodrama, and it is so immensely better than what the Bijou has been handing out to its patrons that one is disposed to hail it with joy. Mr. Hall is the young man who acquired, several years ago, the melodramatic lion habit in bad form. His plays were regular zoological exhibits in which the actor and the lion were star features. Mr. Hall has recovered and has taken to electro-resuscitory science. As the great detective in his new play he exhibits to the audience in full working order an electric-resuscitory motor guaranteed to bring back to life the most stubborn corpse.

But, apart from this, Mr. Hall has a real melodrama, clean, suggestive of mystery, full of action and cleanly and adequately staged. There is murder, but it is of true melodramatic kind, only makebelieve, for the murdered man comes back to life. Mr. Hall insists upon being in the center of the stage a great deal, and he will declaim instead of speak naturally, but for all that, he is an actor of force and personality. His play deals with high finance and tells rather cleverly of the efforts of a rascal and a confidence woman to ruin a banker. Mr. Hall plays a triple role and does it well. His company is a good one, unusually good for melodrama. Miss Anna Hollinger is a charming little woman and an actress of intelligence. M. B. Streeter and Blanche Bryan furnish the comedy and do some clever specialties, providing clean fun for a play that is worthy of commendation in this day of unclean melodrama. The work of the villainess, Miss Barbara Douglas, is also to be commended.

All of which goes to show that melodrama isn't hopeless, except in spots, for big audiences seemed pleased yesterday over the work of "The Millionaire Detective."

Gayety—Rentz-Santley Co.

There is little that is really new in the famous old Rentz-Santley company performing at the Gayety this week, except the faces of the members. While the girls are young and pretty they are no less sturdy than the old-time amazons of Rentz-Santley fame, and the comedians work the same old "ordering wine and dinner" and "grabbing stage money and watches" business that delighted the burlesque patrons 15 years ago, but they keep the laughter going uproariously, which shows they are close on the right track. The olio is the strong side of the program and its special novelty is a lasso and horse-roping act by Burns and Joyce that is worth seeing. Cornalia and Eddie are ludicrous in the extreme in an acrobatic juggling act, and Fentelle and Radcliffe are best in their daring turn. Carr and Jordan appear in a travesty act that is too good for burlesque, and Claus and Montez in a sister singing and dancing act and Lew Welch, the Hebrew comedian, each made good with the audience. The usual chorus numbers with costume changes brightened the burlseque, which is named "Lady Teaser."

Academy—"The Cherry Blossoms."

"The Wrong Count Tobasco" and "Quarrelsome Neighbors" are burlesque titles that suggest warmth and excitement, and that is what the "Cherry Blossoms" are endeavoring to deliver to the Academy patrons this week. Two large audiences received their allotment yesterday afternoon and last night and appeared to be highly satisfied. A lot of good music and singing is also among the fair to middling features, and the girls in their new costumes were no small part of the program. The olio is fairly diversified and includes Low and Payne in "Military Pastimes," Carlyle and Perry in a sister act, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans in "Playmates," H. V. Fitzgerald in a remarkable character change act and the Manhassett comedy four.

"The Girl of the Golden West."

"The Girl of the Golden West" will have its premier performance at the Belasco theater tonight and the opening, while a most important event in the dramatic world generally, will, in so far as Pittsburgh is concerned, be a great social event as well. Mr. Belasco has labored more than a year on the new drama which Miss Bates will appear in tonight and in it that wonderful star is given great scope for her dramatic talent to fully manifest itself. Miss Bates is a great actress. She has a great play and that it will result for her in one of the most pronounced successes of her noted career is generally conceded by those who have had an opportunity to witness the rehearsals. She is given an opportunity in the various situations to run the gauntlet of her emotions, and she measures up fully to all the requirements of the play and its situations, and throughout the interesting character of the rollicking, semi-serious, warm-hearted girl of the plains, the marvelous mesmetism of Miss Bates' charming personality permeates, and she makes of "the girl" a most loveable character, whom the audience will undoubtedly be in sympathy with from the moment the curtain rises until the play is ended. Her emotional scenes will prove particularly strong, and that the play will make a great hit has been conceded.

Mabel McKinley in Drama.

Among the many elaborate scenic accessories used in presenting "The Parson's Wife," the refined comedy-drama in which Miss Mabel McKinley will appear at the Alvin next week, is one which represents in exact detail the most beautiful of New York's roof gardens. Occupying the entire stage, lighted by hundreds of electric bulbs of varied hues, draped with festoons of trailing vines and banked with flowering plants through which glimpses can be caught of graceful marble statues of virgin white.

Viola Allen Presents a New Play.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Viola Allen drew a crowded house to the first performance of Clyde Fitch's play, "The Toast of the Town," at Smith's theater tonight. The general opinion was that "The Toast of the Town" is the best made play that has come from Mr. Fitch's pen in years.

It is in four acts, and while the comedy scenes were highly diverting, the story is intensely interesting and moves along with briskness, directness and force.

Opponents of Division to Take Appeal.

Those citizens of Avalon who desire to appeal to the superior court from the decision of the quarter sessions court that the borough shall be divided into three wards, held a meeting last night. Burgess W. A. Griscom, the chairman, allowed the speakers opposed to an appeal to make speeches, but they finally left when informed that the meeting was called for the benefit of those who were opposed to the decision. The meeting decided to take an appeal. The officers of the borough do not want the borough divided.

Antonio Grande Is on Trial Charged With Killing a Fellow Countryman.

WHITTAKER FILES A DENIAL

Charged with the murder of Raffaelli Constabile, a fellow countryman, Antonio Grande, a rather intelligent-looking Italian, was placed on trial before Judge Macfarlane in criminal court yesterday. Constabile was shot in the abdomen during a quarrel at Port Perry, while on his way home from an Italian christening. Grande, when taken into custody is alleged to have admitted that he had shot Constabile, but claimed the latter had attacked him. Frank Constabile, a brother of the man who was killed, was the principal witness. He said his brother and Grande had some words and both men drew knives. They did no cutting, however, and he got his brother away. Grande then fired three shots, one of which struck his brother in the abdomen, but a dozen witnesses to the shooting testified to substantially the same story of the shooting.

Robert Rorison entered a plea of guilty to a charge of misdemeanor in escaping from the workhouse last February, and was sentenced by Judge Brown to serve 17 days in the institution from which he took French leave.

W. G. Richards was sentenced one day to the workhouse. He pleaded guilty to a charge of forging the name of John B. McDowell to a check for $33, on the Central Bank of Wilkinsburgh. Richards' sentence was made light owing to the fact that he had been confined in jail 60 days.

Interesting Affidavit of Defense.

An affidavit of defense has been filed by Attorney John M. Haverty in the case of Isabella R. Whittaker, now a resident of California, against Oscar A. Whittaker. The defendant avers that under the will of his mother, Jane F. Whittaker, he became heir to her real estate, in a codicil to the will his mother declared it to be her wish that the plaintiff be boarded and clothed by the defendant until she attained the age of 18 years, the cost of the plaintiff's support to be only a personal undertaking of the defendant, and not a charge or lien upon the real estate. The defendant avers that the plaintiff continued to live at his home for eight months, during which time she was clothed, boarded and educated by him. Plaintiff then left and went to live with Mrs. Clara Sheller, where she stayed for about 14 months, during all of which time, the defendant says, he provided for her. At the end of that time the plaintiff returned to live with defendant and his wife, where she made her home until April, 1903.

Defendant avers that he never refused to board and clothe the plaintiff, and that he never turned her out of his home. Nor was she ever compelled until April, 1903, to board and clothe herself by her own labors, but asserts that he has always contributed and provided for her support. He denies that the plaintiff has earned her own boarding and clothing during the period from June, 1895, to May 14, 1903, and he also denies that he has failed to perform the undertaking accepted by him; on the contrary he asserts that he has always complied with the duties imposed upon him by reason of the will of his mother.

The defendant alleges that during the time the plaintiff lived at his home she was hard to control and would become dissatisfied if any correction was made of her conduct or habits, which on certain occasions required correction. About April, 1903, he says the plaintiff left his house. When he again found her she told him she did not intend to come back and live with him and his wife, as she was having a good time and was going to work. Defendant then offered her financial aid, which he says was accepted by her, but a few days after she had passed her eighteenth birthday and all responsibility on his part had ceased. The defendant denies that he is indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $1,775 or in any other sum, and says that he has continuously from May 25, 1894, to May 14, 1902, the date of plaintiff's eighteenth birthday, and for a long period thereafter, boarded, clothed and educated her.

Miller Gets a New Trial.

A new trial has been granted to Charles M. Miller, the Avalon contractor convicted on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. It is claimed that efforts to get certain evidence on record prejudiced the minds of the jurors.

An appeal was taken to the supreme court from the finding of common pleas court No. 2 that the mortgage given when H. C. Frick purchased St. Paul's cathedral was not taxable.

Frank Hosack, alias N. F. Hosack was sued for $1,000 damages by Amelia M. Shook. The plaintiff says that by false representations about the purchase of a saloon the defendant induced her to loan him $600.

True bills, one charging murder and another voluntary manslaughter, were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Joseph Pavoli, the 17-year-old Italian, for the killing of John Earl Hall on Grant street September 8.

Another Bump for Supt. Wallace.

The bills in which George Laughran, alias William Johnston, and Matt Cavanaugh were charged with the larceny of $145 from the store of S. A. Lande, in Second avenue, were again ignored, it being alleged that not sufficient evidence was introduced to warrant the trial of the men. The bills were ignored about two weeks ago, but were sent back for reconsideration by District Attorney Robert E. Stewart at the request of Superintendent of Police Wallace, who claimed the police department had not been notified when the case was called before the grand jury.

Other true bills were: Burglary, Benjamin Richards; embezzlement, J. L. Mitchell; bigamy, Edward Deary; felony, Leslie Campbell, J. M. Kline, Jr., and Albert Kelly; petit jury, Edward Deary; false pretense, Asta M. Carl, George Corsolit, Steve Fuste, H. C. Welkes, et al; E. G. Weller (2); felonious assault, Charles Blackwell, John Mattis, "Mike" Piercart, Fred Wright, Sr.; forcible entry, Dan Sailor, et al; larceny, Charles Aiter, James Fitzsimons, Willie Jones, Ralph Smith (2); perjury, Joseph Jones, James McClaren, John Robinson, George Schnider, John Vangre, Andrew Washington; larceny by bailee, I. Nathan; selling liquor illegally, Archie James; misdemeanor, J. J. Cavanaugh, P. M. Corrigan, P. M. Doyle, James Fried, Thomas Good, Barney Held, G. R. Henderson, Max Goodman, et al; Henry Laughey (2), et al; M. C. Miller, B. Marshall, E. A. Maechel, W. S. McPherron, Charles Bidel, James Tuxford, P. Woodrisell, Agnes Ackerson, John Craven; assault and battery, Louis Brill, Anna Carter, Michael George, James McConnigle.

P. J. McNulty was given a verdict for $5,-595.25 in common pleas court No. 3 against P. J. McNulty, James W. Platt and John F. Hawkins, auxiliary administrators of Henry M. Bennett. The action was brought to recover on a promissory note given by Henry M. Bennett on March 31, 1901, to the plaintiff.

Margaret Patterson filed a suit against the Delaware Insurance Company of Philadelphia to recover $2,500 on a policy of fire insurance.

In the Divorce Court.

Libels in divorce were filed by Marion A. Cable against Harry C. Cable, charging him with desertion; Harry Bradley against Lillie B. Bradley, desertion; Tillie Glasser against William G. Glasser, desertion, and Bertha Miller against William H. Miller, desertion.

Divorces were granted to Maud M. Sherry from James A. Sherry for cruelty; Henry L. Weil from Sybil Weil, for desertion; Jennie A. Young from John W. Young, desertion, and Ella Bradley from John E. Pattison for infinities.

Damages in $25,000 for the loss of his sight are asked by Frederick W. Elcock from the Armstrong Cork Company. While working inside a tank there was an explosion in the factory. The explosion jarred and shook the tank from its position. Physicians, who have examined the plaintiff, say that his sight will never be restored and that the loss of sight is due to the effect of the explosion on the optic nerve.

Two Juries Differed.

A rather peculiar mistake was made yesterday because the true and ignored bills became mixed in the clerk of courts office. Mal. Stewart tried a case against James Cowgill, charged with larceny, and secured a conviction. It afterward turned out that the bill had been ignored and should not have been used. The district attorney had pleased quickly at the bill and did not notice the word "ignored" written across the back. County Detective Robinson thought the district attorney did well to secure a conviction under the circumstances, as the case is old and only one day in the workhouse nothing has been done about the matter.

No Chance for O'Donnell.

The United Labor league yesterday received from Chief Factory Inspector John O. Delaney a letter in response to one sent him by a committee of the league the other day. Capt. Delaney writes that Hugh O'Donnell will not be reinstated as an agent, as the department's force is complete, and because of lack of funds he cannot make any more appointments.

CITY IS INSTALLING WATER METERS AGAIN

Striking Plumbers Return to Work—Bigelow Sends in Another Big Order.

Six of the 36 plumbers employed to install water meters, who went out on a strike about a month ago, returned to work yesterday and Supt. Shepherd of the water bureau stated that the other plumbers would be re-employed as fast as the work could be prepared for them. In installing meters it is necessary for excavating in the streets and cellars before the meters are put in, and this must be done by laborers who work ahead of the plumbers.

These laborers were laid off soon after the plumbers quit. In a week the entire force of plumbers will be at work placing meters. Supt. Shepherd said that of the 5,000 meters purchased in the last lot by the city, only about 800 or 900 remain to be installed. Director Bigelow proposes to install not less than 10,000 meters throughout the city, and another large lot will be or has been ordered and will be furnished by the Pittsburgh Meter Company, a Westinghouse concern, when the present supply is exhausted. Mr. Bigelow proposes to spend at least $200,000 for water meters.

SOME MEN MAKE THEIR CLOTHES PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS, more than any other one class of business men, have a clear understanding of the full value of good clothes. Compelled to meet all kinds of men and women in a business way, under every conceivable condition, they know full well the worth of good first impressions. Even last year's clothes, in perfect condition, won't do. Style counts. They insist on the latest as well as the best.

This explains why several hundred Commercial Travelers, whose routes include Pittsburg, always wait until they get here to buy their new Suits and Overgarments—and buy them at Kaufmann's. Long experience and comparing notes with each other convinces them that when we provide the clothing, the style is certainly right, the quality up to the mark and the price as low as can be.

Our high-grade garments, from $20 up to $36, are the finest imported woolens, in the standard weaves and the newest novelty effects, with hand-tailoring of the most expert kind applied to every feature—with buttons, linings, trimmings and every feature of finish as good as the work of the best merchant tailors.

The man who has $10 or $15 to put into a new Suit, Topcoat or Raincoat and brings it to our store will make his money go as far as would $12 or $20 in most places where the volume of business is moderate and the early season prices must pay most of the half-year's expenses. Not so here. It is no uncommon thing at "The Big Store" to re-order the same lines of goods ten times in a single season—especially the $10 and $15 lines, which we make our strongholds.

$10 For Suits and Overcoats worth $12.

GAMES TODAY.

Detroit at New York.

There was no game at Exposition park because of rain. The Pittsburghs and Bostons were to have played, and both teams were on the field, as was also Umpire Johnstone. Five minutes before the time set for the game to begin, rain began to fall and the game was declared off by Captain Clarke, the sole judge of the fitness of the grounds in this case. The players of both teams at once rushed off the field and the W. U. P. football team rushed upon it. In a few minutes the rain came down in such volumes that even the hardy kickers were chased to shelter. Many people remained in the grandstand to keep out of the wet, and to get a glimpse of the Wup boys at practice.

Because of the postponement two games will be played today to catch up with the schedule. The first game will begin at 1:30. Young Cy Young was slated to pitch for Boston yesterday, and he and Victor Willis will probably work for the Beaneaters today. Leifield and Philippe are likely to be the pitchers for Pittsburgh.

Catcher Gibson presented a damaged appearance, having his face crossed with sticking plaster. In practice a foul tip caught him on the jaw. His mouth was cut so badly that the doctor had to put on stitches. While the doctor was dressing the wound, Manager Clarke was telephoning around town for another catcher. Failing to find one, he had made up his mind to send Hillebrand behind the bat, when he glanced out on the field and saw Gibson warming up a pitcher. The young catcher refused to stay in the club house after the doctor had fixed him up, and he would have been behind the bat if rain had not prevented the game. He will catch one of the games today, and Hillebrand will likely be behind the bat in the other, as Pitts has a bad hand.

Otto Knabe, the Beitzhoover boy who played with Pueblo, of the Western league this year, practiced with the Pirates yesterday. He showed up well, and may be seen in both games today. The Pittsburgh club drafted him for 1906. It is likely that all the new men will be given a chance this week. Next Saturday will be Beitzhoover day at Exposition park. Hans Lobert will be here with the Chicagos and Knabe will play on the Pittsburgh team. Both lads are popular in Beitzhoover, and the borough will turn out strong to show its appreciation.

Clarence Beaumont left yesterday for his Wisconsin home in Hovey Creek. He will not play again until next March, when he hopes his leg will be thoroughly healed. Sam Leever also left for his home in Goshen, O., but he will pitch one of the games at Cincinnati next Sunday. Leever and Case have been given permission to arrange a game for the championship of Claremont county, Ohio, the contest to take place some day next week.

On Thursday the Pirates will play at Charleroi, President Dreyfuss having accepted an invitation from John K. Tener and other business men of that place. It was rumored that the Homestead team would secure the game for Homestead. The Charleroi game will likely be the last exhibition game to be played by the Pirates this season. They will take no barnstorming trips next week, but after Sunday's games at Cincinnati the team will disband and the players will scatter to their homes for the winter.

Nichols Gets Poor Support.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Nichols received the poorest kind of support in the early innings and as a result the locals scored all of their runs on two bases on balls, five hits and six errors today. Brown held Philadelphia safe at all times, and it was not until the game was won that he let up in his work. Attendance 1,200. Score:

PRINCETON PRACTICE LISTLESS

Scrubs Have Better of Varsity. Phillips, New Center, Appears. Jones Kicks Goal at Yale.

HARD WORK AT WASH.-JEFF.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 2.—The varsity seems to be under the weather, or they are taking it easy after last Saturday's victory. Today's scrimmage so far as the first team was concerned was sluggish and spiritless to a degree unknown in this year's record, while the scrub was in clover and got down the field several times under punts in a way that was far from creditable to the varsity's tackling. The fact that the varsity scored a touchdown on Bard's 50-yard run was by no means an evidence of consistent work on their part, for during much of the scrimmage their play lacked snap and scrap. Generally a new combination was worked in the varsity's back field and Simons was put in with Bard, while Pfeifer and Daub worked together.

It is difficult to say at present how the plan will work, but the evidences of its success, especially in the Simons-Bard combination, are capital. Both of these men have so far done star work, and if the coaches decide to continue the experiment, it will be worth watching. A new man appeared today for the first time this season and was placed on the scrub center. He is W. J. Phillips, 1908, and has made a good beginning. McCormick is still off the field working the poison ivy out of his blood, and Moscrip is filling his rather large shoes very well.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Jones, a freshman, who entered Yale from Exeter, scored the first goal by a drop kick on Yale field this season, during this afternoon's practice for the varsity against the scrubs. The other was a touchdown by Morse after the varsity had rushed the ball 50 yards without once losing it. Today's play was a decided improvement upon Saturday's poor showing when neither team could score. Jones called attention to himself a second time by catching the ball at kick-off and running it back nearly 50 yards. Favored in the matter of downs, the scrubs twice scored touchdowns today. Capt. Shevlin has not played since last Wednesday and will probably not do so until Thursday. A badly strained leg tendon bothers him.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Coach Piekarski resumed hard work for the Washington and Jefferson football team this afternoon on a wet field. In spite of the hard game Saturday with Princeton, Washington and Jefferson is in fairly good shape, not a cripple of any consequence being in evidence. The next game will be with Ohio university Saturday.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—For more than two solid hours this afternoon Coach Reid of the Harvard varsity eleven worked his candidates on Soldiers field. The fun started with dumbbell work, then came some limbering up stunts for all positions, and finally a 20-minute scrimmage period was enjoyed by the most promising aspirants. Previous to trotting out on the field, Capt. Hurley gathered the men in the locker building where Reid told of the mistakes made in the game against Williams.

In the scrimmage period neither team was able to score. The second after the kickoff forced the varsity back 30 yards on straight football. There was considerable punting and little fumbling. On one occasion Wendell broke away for a dash of 60 yards and later on Scott contributed a sprint of 30 yards, both being end runs. Capt. Hurley did not play, but his time was spent on the field coaching the back field trios of both squads. White played a miserable game at center. After five minutes' of work, Coach Reid relegated him to the second and gave Cunniff the place of honor on the varsity. Kersberg and Speer were used at left tackle for a short period, and Hall and Clark alternated at right end. In the back field Guild and Lockwood had a chance to show what they could do in Hurley's berth at full back. It was the first appearance of Speer and Guild in the scrimmage, and both had to retire on account of slight injuries.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—With most of the Cornell varsity men absent from the field so that they could arrange their work on "the hill" with their professors, only light practice with signal work and no scrimmage, was given the remainder of the football squad this afternoon. Pollock and Gardner, the most promising candidates for quarterback, were instructed for nearly an hour in drop kicking. Both made a large number of pretty goals from the 30-yard line. The training tables were started tonight with twenty-two candidates at two tables, one for the varsity and the second for scrubs. The twelve taken to the varsity table are Capt. Costello, Cook, Thompson, Halliday, Modge, Oderkirk, Furman. Candidates for inside line positions: Van Orman, end; Rice, Gibson, halfbacks, and Davis and Walkers, fullbacks.

The following fifteen were taken to the scrub table: Schildmiller, Rhodehuse and Goodspeed, ends; Danna, Downes, Phipps, O'Rourke, Sheldon and Wilder, line men; Martinez, Martin and Earl, halfbacks, and Pollock, Sailor and Gardner, quarterbacks.

The candidates for the freshmen team were placed in a separate squad this afternoon and from now will be trained separately by Coach Louden. Among those who are showing up best are Whiting, halfback; McCutcheon, fullback, and Payton, quarter.

Tom Jenkins Is Thrown.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Ahmed Madrali, the Turk, defeated Tom Jenkins, the American wrestler in two straight falls here this afternoon. The match, which was catch-as-catch-can style, was for $500 a side and a purse of $750. The Turk, who is both taller and heavier than the American, had the advantage of the bouts. He secured the first fall in 19 minutes and 48 seconds and the second in 22 minutes 46 seconds. It is understood that Madrali will challenge George Hackenschmidt, the Russian champion.

THOMPSON AND FARRAR TO CONSULT U. OF P.

Joe Thompson, captain of the W. U. P. football team, and Dr. William H. Farrar of Pittsburgh, a former U. of P. star tackle, left last night for Philadelphia to confer with the athletic authorities of U. of P. relative to the proposed calling off of a game between the elevens of these institutions for November 18 in Philadelphia. Capt. Thompson goes prepared to show the Quakers that W. U. P. is a strictly college eleven, and Dr. Farrar will substantiate him. The faculty at U. of P. never sanctioned the game with W. U. P., along with a few others.

U. of P. wrote Capt. Thompson Saturday advising him of this fact and suggesting that he secure another game for the date. Thompson, before leaving for the east, expressed himself as being grieved at the action of U. of P. The W. U. P., he says, is conforming to the college rules, and it is the earnest wish of Chancellor McCormick that the eleven be conducted on such lines. Thompson thinks the game will be played as scheduled.

Thomas J. Thorp, captain of the Columbia university football team, will not be eligible to play with his team this year because of poor standing in his studies. It is thought that either John Fisher or Duncan Browne, two veterans, will be chosen as captain.

The Princeton scrub football training table has been started with the following men, some of whom will probably soon be on the varsity table: Bokum, Wasserman, Jennings, O'Brien, Douglas, Phillips, Phinney, Rheinstein, Haskell, Whaley, Walton, C. Smith, Hoagland, Hardy, Moscrip, Moore, McNeil, Dype, Connett, McClintock, Pfeiffer, Tebbatt, Johnson, Vaughan, Hamill and Baker.

Representatives of the "big nine" met at Chicago Saturday, and among other important business transacted, sounded the knell of student membership in athletic clubs. It was agreed that in the future permission should not be given the athletes to compete for any athletic club, either in term time or vacation.

The University of Pennsylvania has decided to inaugurate a new custom for the freshmen football team. Not only have the youngsters been provided with a better schedule than usual but several of their important games will be played as curtain raisers to the big games which Penn has scheduled for the same day. Thus Lawrenceville will be played on Franklin field October 21, at 1 o'clock, just prior to the Pennsylvania-Brown game. Similarly St. Paul's will be played at Franklin field November 4 before the Lafayette game.

The rain yesterday prevented practice by the local football teams. The W. U. P. candidates got on the field at Exposition park just long enough to get wet.

Rockwell will be a strong addition to the Yale coaching staff. He is in college, but ineligible to play. He will coach Exeter a week or so and may go to Annapolis. Rockwell will, however, give the most of his thought to Capt. Shevlin's eleven.

That Colgate is satisfied with Frank R. Castleman's standing as an amateur athlete, and does not care one whit for the opinion of the registration committee of the A. A. U., is exemplified by the fact that Castleman was allowed by the university to play in the game against Cornell on Saturday. This fact is fraught with meaning for the faculty at Colgate is very particular upon matters concerning the standing of her athletes. This was clearly demonstrated a couple of days ago, when Whitaker, the full-back on the football team and captain of the baseball team for next season, was disqualified because he played professional summer baseball.

West Newton to Meet Braddock.

West Newton plays its final game of the season today at home with the strong Braddock team. Justin and Sam Brown will be the battery for the West Newton. Braddock will play at Scottdale tomorrow.

White Sox Lose at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Smith's wildness in the first inning today gave Washington three runs and the game. Three hits, three wild pitches, a pass to first and an error scored the home team's total runs. Patten pitched fine ball and had the visitors shut out up to the final inning, when, principally because of darkness, Chicago scored two runs. Attendance, 3,500. Score:

LIBERTY VALLEY LEAGUE OPENS

Shadyside Bowlers Take All Three Games from the Schenley's by Good Scores.

LATEST BITS FROM THE ALLEYS

The Liberty Valley league opened its season last night on the Penn avenue alleys, Shadyside and Schenley being the contestants. Shadyside made a clean sweep with the greatest ease, rolling three 800 scores. The Schenleys could not get beyond 753. The best bowling was done by Wright, who made high score of 221, and best average of 182. Phillippe also did good work, getting an average of 176. For the Schenley, Goben was the star. JUDGE IS VICTIM OF COLORADO MOB

Enraged by Order to Suppress Gambling, Citizens Threaten Him With Violence.

HAS HAD STORMY EXPERIENCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DENVER, COL., Oct. 2.—The spectacle of a member of the judiciary being dragged about by a mob and forced to rescind an official order ended a day of turmoil at Brighton, Col., the county seat of Adams county, adjoining the city limits of Denver.

A. H. Guthiel, county judge, summoned the mayor, marshal and members of the town board before him today, and lectured them for their alleged failure to enforce ordinances against gambling and Sunday liquor selling. Following this, he ordered the sheriff and marshal to gather the slot machines in the town of Brighton, and when they reported later that they could only find one, Judge Guthiel deputized two men to arrest them for contempt.

In the meantime both the sheriff and the marshal disappeared. The report of the judge's action concerning the town peace officers spread through the town and caused much excitement. Citizens began to gather on the streets, and, fearing for his personal safety, Judge Guthiel boarded a Union Pacific freight engine as it was pulling a train slowly through the town. He ordered the engineer to uncouple the engine from the train, it is said, and run to this city with him, threatening legal action unless the engineer complied with the order.

The engineer refused to obey the demand, and while they were discussing the matter a mob gathered around the engine and Judge Guthiel was dragged from the cab. He was told that he must rescind his order of arrest against the sheriff and marshal and upon being assured that he had already done so, the judge was released by the mob and allowed to proceed to this city on a passenger train later. Judge Guthiel has been at war almost constantly with other county officers since his administration began about a year ago, and has had these officials and members of the bar before him time and again on charges of contempt.

NIGHT SESSIONS START IN MANY WARD SCHOOLS

Foreigners Show an Eagerness to Acquire Knowledge of the English Branches of Study.

Night sessions were started in several Allegheny schools last night. In the Second ward the Sherman Avenue school is used, and in the Third, school No. 2 was opened. In the Fourth ward, school No. 1 had a fair attendance, among the pupils being a number of Greeks and Poles of some education, who are seeking to learn English, the English tables in arithmatic, and United States history. This latter study is always popular with the foreign element in the Fourth ward.

The Fifth ward school opened two rooms for pupils and because of its nearness to the Sixth ward school there will be no night sessions there. The Charles Street school in the Tenth, and the East Street school in the Twelfth wards will be open during the evenings all winter.

The directors of the Duquesne subdistrict of the First ward school, Pittsburgh, decided last night to continue the night sessions that were so well patronized last year. The Duquesne school is unique in that most of the night pupils are adult Greeks and Italians who show an eagerness to acquire a familiarity with the English common school branches of study. The school will open next Monday night.

PLAN MASS MEETING.

Presbyterian Union Arranges for Meeting of Local Members of Denomination to Encourage Work Among Foreigners.

At the annual meeting of the Presbyterian union of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, held last night in the First church, Sixth avenue, it was decided to hold a mass meeting for all Presbyterians in this district in the First church on the evening of November 27, for the purpose of encouraging the movement to provide literature for foreign-speaking members of the denomination in this section of the country. The Rev. Drs. William L. McEwan and William O. Campbell will make the principal addresses.

Prof. A. S. Hunter, Ph. D., LL. D., was re-elected president; James J. Kay was elected vice president and D. McK. Lloyd was re-elected treasurer, and William C. Lilley secretary. An executive committee was elected for three years, as follows: The Rev. Drs. S. B. McCormick and Jesse C. Bruce and W. H. Stevenson and S. A. Dickie, laymen.

A committee consisting of Dr. Hunter, S. E. Gill and William C. Lilley was appointed to confer with the social union of the United Presbyterian and Reformed Presbyterian churches with a view of cooperation if not consolidation. Following the report of the treasurer, which showed a balance of $30, the committee on membership presented 20 new candidates who were accepted.

DETECTIVE KOHEN HAS A MOST MYSTERIOUS CASE

County Detective Kohen was detailed yesterday to investigate a mysterious robbery that is said to have occurred at the boarding house of Miss M. McKenzie, formerly the residence of John I. Shaw, in Bellevue. Miss McKenzie reported the case to the county detective bureau early yesterday morning. Some one, according to Miss McKenzie, carried away $100 in cash. After questioning Miss McKenzie and making an investigation of the premises Kohen went before Justice George J. Campbell and secured a search warrant to empower him to look through a number of houses in Bellevue and in this city. The thief had not been located late last night, but Kohen says he is confident he will get the guilty one, who he says was familiar with the McKenzie house and the neighborhood.

The new $50,000 school of St. Michael's Slavonic Roman Catholic church of Homestead was dedicated yesterday. A feature was the large parade, about a dozen societies from different neighboring towns and Pittsburgh participating. The school was dedicated by the Rev. Father W. L. Janda, the pastor, assisted by a dozen other priests. The new school buildings are imposing structures of brick and stone.

She agreed to accompany her mother home after Police Inspector Boyle had talked to her a while. The family formerly lived in Pittsburgh.

MAD HORSE BITES ITSELF AND ATTACKS ITS MATES

Animal Bitten by Dog Becomes Crazed and Is Shot After Terrorizing Stablemen for Hours.

Bleeding from gashes inflicted upon himself by his teeth, a mad horse owned by the Carnegie Mill and Lumber Company was shot yesterday after it had bitten four other horses and had terrorized the stablemen for four hours.

Shortly after midnight yesterday morning, Charles Wagner, the stable boss, was aroused by violent kicking in the stalls and found the horse in frenzy. He led the animal into the yards and found that he was frothing at the mouth. Newton Dushane, the superintendent, was aroused, as well as four drivers, and it required the combined efforts of the men to get the horse back into the stable. Once there, he bit his halter in two and reared and plunged about the stable, kicking nearly all the horses and biting four.

He was driven out after much effort and ran wildly up and down First street, often turning upon his pursuers and driving them to shelter. In fury he bit himself repeatedly and finally bolted into a box stall owned by C. A. Foster, a First street feed dealer, where the animal was shot to death. On Labor day the horse was bitten by a mad dog, which had also bitten a child and several other dogs.

Emperor Praises M. Witte.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 2.—The imperial decree issued today formally announcing the bestowal on M. Witte of the rank of count adds that the distinction is given "in recognition of his services to the throne and fatherland and the admirable manner in which he discharged a task of the highest importance to the state and as a mark of the special favor of the emperor."

SENATOR KNOX DID NOT LOCALIZE HIS REMARKS

Republican Leaders Well Satisfied With Interview of Statesman on Politics.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Insurgent newspapers here profess to find consolation in the fact that Senator Knox, in his interview yesterday, did not localize his remarks. He did not discuss the contest in Philadelphia, neither did he refer to the campaign in his home county of Allegheny. He was not asked to do so. His position as United States senator from Pennsylvania and his services in the cabinets of McKinley and Roosevelt, attach to his opinions much importance, and for this reason The Gazette invited an expression from Mr. Knox on the state campaign.

As Senator Knox had declined previous requests of this character he requested The Gazette to furnish Philadelphia and Pittsburgh papers with proofs of its interview. This was done.

The fact that the North American and Record declined to publish Mr. Knox's interview would seem to establish its merit as an expression helpful to Republican interests. This is the view of the Republican leaders here. They are much pleased with what Mr. Knox said, with the way he said it, and believe his interview will be indorsed by Republicans generally.

Switzerland Accepts Invitation.

BERNE, SWITZERLAND, Oct. 2.—The federal council has accepted the invitation of Russia to participate in the second peace conference at The Hague. In the official note issued on the subject the question of the red cross is reserved and Switzerland will seek the earliest opportunity to take up the revision of the Geneva convention.

ADDITIONAL SPORTING

Penn. May Lose Reynolds.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Marshall Reynolds, the star halfback and captain of this year's football team of the University of Pennsylvania, may not be able to play this fall. Reynolds was graduated last June from the law school and he desired this year to take a special course of study. Dean Lewis of the law school refused to allow him to matriculate, as the school has no post-graduate course. The studies Reynolds picked out for a special course, Dean Lewis states, did not seem likely to benefit him and he could not allow him to return.

Charley Dexter Stabs a Fellow Player.

DES MOINES, IA., Oct. 2.—Charles Dexter, catcher of the Des Moines Western league ball team, this evening stabbed First Baseman H. Q. Bateman of the Milwaukee American association team. Bateman's condition is serious and he is not expected to live until morning. The men quarreled over the payment of a cab bill and Dexter drew a long knife. He slashed Bateman across the breast, the blade cutting into the lung.

Pirates must win six more games to reach 100 victories.

Joe Kelley yesterday signed to manage the Cincinnati team next season.

No games were played at New York, Cincinnati and St. Louis yesterday.

Connie Mack's Athletics took a step forward in the race by Chicago losing to Washington.

In his collision with Elberfeld at New York on Saturday, Dave Fultz broke his jaw and will not be able to play any more this season.

Frank Smith, the Pittsburgh boy, with the Chicago Americans, struck out 11 Washington batsmen yesterday. He lost the game on account of his wildness in the first inning.

By winning yesterday, the Chicagos took the series from the Philadelphians. Chicago has now won the series from Cincinnati, St. Louis, Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

The fighting game will liven up in a short time.

Marvin Hart's next fight will be with George Gardner.

Larry Temple was matched yesterday to fight Sam Langford on next Tuesday night before the Douglas club of Chelsea, Mass. They will go 15 rounds to a decision. This is the club that is managed by Bill Crowley, who brought Young Corbett from the west and had him fight Terry McGovern at Hartford, Conn., when the Denver boy won in two rounds.

Jimmy Mason has taken hold of Jimmy Dunn, the little New Castle fighter, and will manage him from this out. Dunn has fought some good men, and only a short time ago at Bridgeport, O., received a draw with Jack McClelland in 15 rounds. Shortly before that he met Abe Attel in a 12-round draw, and while Attel had a shade on points, Dunn forced the fighting all the way. Dunn is only 22 years old and gives promise of soon being at the top. He may come here to live in a short time, and work out with the boxers that Mason has in charge.

Our patients enjoy life without the slightest return of symptoms. Appetite improved, blood enriched, nerves strengthened, health restored. CALL MONEY RATE SOON LOWERED TO 5 PER CENT

New York Securities Advance Rather Strongly in the Forenoon, Anxiety in Regard to Money Market Disappearing—Local Stocks Active.

The course of yesterday's New York money market justified last week's speculative confidence that the tone would relax after the special requirements of the close of last week had been met. These requirements included those for the turn of the month and for the quarter and also for the very large syndicate transactions which were put through. Syndicate payments on the large railroad bond issues were evidently redeposited immediately and became available in yesterday's money market. Therefore, instead of Friday's rates for call loans above 6 per cent and up to 7 per cent, there was only a momentary demand at 6 per cent and the free offerings carried the rate down to 5 per cent. In response to this, prices of securities were inclined to advance. Efforts to awaken any animation in the speculation, however, proved mostly abortive.

Movements of any extent were confined to industrial stocks of little prominence and to a few railroad stocks which have been the subject of pool operations for a long time past. While the action of the money market lessened anxiety regarding any financial stringency, and all of the news was calculated to uphold confidence in the solid foundation of values, it was felt that actual ease in money is not to be hoped for at once.

The early reports of additional gold engagements in London were regarded as exaggerated, but authoritative admissions justified the conclusion that gold had been secured there. This was enough to prove that the advance in the Bank of England discount rate was not to make an effective barrier to securing of further gold for New York. The price of gold in London was marked up again as a further measure of security for the supply in that market. The subtreasury statement showed that the government fiscal operations were still taking money from New York banks, the loss to that institution reaching $1,576,000, as against the loss for the previous week for the same period of $1,949,000. The subtreasury's credit balance at the clearing house paved the way for expecting a further large withdrawal to be shown by today's statement. Last week's total loss to that institution of $7,000,000, therefore, may be duplicated. Scepticism over the showing of the cash gain in the Saturday bank statement continued unallayed and the ability of the clearing house institution to effect another such showing in face of the tide of the currency movement was doubted.

The extraordinary nature of the railroad traffic reported by officials offers a clear index of the great expansion of credits and heavy demand for funds from all parts of the country. These various factors helped to form a conviction that money rates for the immediate future are likely to be maintained at a high level. Favorable reports of railroad business have come to be received without surprise in Wall street, but reports this week had to resort to such expressions as "deluged with freight," "rush" and "overwhelmed" in order to convey the idea of conditions.

An advance in the price of copper in New York and in London induced only a narrow movement in Amalgamated Copper. At the end of the day some fractional losses were mixed with the gains as a result of the spotty speculations of the day. The principal activity was confined to the forenoon session and prices sagged in the prevailing dullness of the afternoon.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $3,075,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

The Pittsburgh stock market yesterday was strong and active, and a number of the leading issues made advances of some importance. Philadelphia Company, still under the influence of the Philadelphia buying which has been the most marked feature of the year in this stock, was considerably higher. A total of 625 shares were taken and it is understood that much of this was absorption by the large interests in the east who already hold the control.

In number of shares traded Crucible Steel common was the most active security, a total of 2,754 shares changing hands at prices ranging from 13 to 13¾, and closing at 13¾, a net gain for the day of ½. The preferred was in lighter demand, 365 shares being sold. The high was 69 and the low 68¾, with the last sale of a small lot at 68¾, a gain of ¾. Manufacturers Light & Heat recovered ¾, selling at the close at 35¾. Pittsburgh Oil & Gas was higher, 3 shares selling at 66¼, a gain of ⅝. Both the United States Steel issues gained ¼, the common reaching a high mark of 38½. The Fireproof issues each lost fractionally.

In the banking group Safe Deposit & Trust, on a sale of three shares, lost $5, while a single share of Second National Bank brought $760, an increase of $5. Diamond Savings bank was $2 lower. Real Estate Trust was unchanged at $240.

Remarkable character of Saturday's bank statement continued to excite comment.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

An analysis of the situation of the Pennsylvania Company as regards the recent increase of its capital stock from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000 is presented in the Wall Street Journal in a very clear form. It says in part:

Since the Pennsylvania railroad is the sole shareholder of the Pennsylvania Company stock, it is hardly material to the outside world what figure represents the Pennsylvania railroad's ownership in the property, but it is of great significance that the Pennsylvania railroad can borrow money at 3½ per cent in Wall street and reinvest it in the stock of the Pennsylvania company, at par, receiving therefrom an income at the rate of 5 per cent. This means that the Pennsylvania railroad's "other income" item will be swelled by at least $1,000,000 per annum, on account of the $20,000,000 invested in Pennsylvania company stock.

To see why the Pennsylvania Company is able to at once increase its dividend disbursements from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 per annum, it is but necessary to look at the operating results of the last few years. The dividends paid in the last five years aggregate $5,430,000, whereas in the same period there was $9,000,000 set aside or appropriated to improvement of the property and over $4,350,000 balance of earnings carried to credit of profit and loss, a total of over $18,350,000 surplus income beyond dividends of which the road has received the benefit. It is no wonder therefore that the Pennsylvania railroad can now see its way clear to take the modest sum of $2,000,000 profits from this company annually.

In none of the last five years has less than $1,000,000 been devoted to improvements, and in 1904 when the company was paying interest on the $50,000,000 eighteen months notes, $2,000,000 was so applied, or an amount equal to the present dividend disbursement. For the eight months of 1905 the Pennsylvania Company will show gross earnings about $4,500,000 ahead of the corresponding period of 1904, and the net income to be reported by the company for the year 1905 can scarcely fall short of an amount equal to 15 per cent on $40,000,000 stock, or 10 per cent on $60,000,000 stock.

The gross earnings have grown $15,000,000 per annum in the period of 1900 to 1905, and the increased net income available for dividends $5,000,000 per annum. The dividend rate has been gradually advanced from nothing in 1900 to 5 per cent in 1904-5.

That the evidences of friendliness towards the Japanese in the late war have brought the United States a substantial return is shown in the following extract from The Business Monthly, the new paper issued under the auspices of the First National Bank of Pittsburgh:

"Pittsburgh is vitally interested in the increasing trade with foreign countries, because this is a manufacturing center, and the products of this district are needed wherever civilized man dwells. This community is pleased to note from the monthly return of the foreign trade of the empire of Japan that during the first six months of this year Japanese imports show the remarkable increase of 56.9 per cent, with very large increases in the imports of iron and steel, machinery and manufactured goods in which metals are used. The leading position of the United States in Japanese foreign commerce is seen from the fact that this country furnished 22.4 per cent of the total imports during the first six months of 1905, as compared with 14.7 per cent of the total imports during the same period of 1904, and is credited with 28.6 per cent of the total domestic exports during the first half year in 1905, as compared with 25.1 per cent of the total domestic exports of Japan for the first six months in 1904."

The following notice was issued yesterday by the firm of Henry Sproul & Co., announcing the changes forecasted some time ago:

We beg to announce that the firm of Henry Sproul & Company will be dissolved on October 14th. Two of the partners, Mr. James W. Scully and Mr. Charles A. Painter, have associated themselves with Mr. Daniel Beech, at present cashier of the First National Bank of Birmingham, and will continue in the brokerage business in the present offices, both at Pittsburgh and New York, under the name of Scully, Painter & Beech. Mr. Henry Sproul will open new offices at No. 46 Wood street, under the name of Henry Sproul & Company.

Five shares of Pittsburgh & Lake Erie stock, par $50, sold yesterday at 150, an advance of 42 since the last sale some months ago. Few railroad stocks are so closely held as this, and few have as large a book value back of them.

Unlisted securities were quoted as follows yesterday:

It is now stated that the report of the Crucible Steel Company will not be ready for the stockholders until the last of the week, although it had been intended to issue it early this week.

The old belief that the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia will ultimately land the ownership of the Philadelphia Company, is still strong and a revival of buying is certain to revive the belief.

Treasurer Charles A. Duncan of the North Butte company enclosed with the checks for the 50-cent dividend a letter saying that the company had expended upwards of $4,587,000 for mining properties, and that the board had decided to accumulate a reasonable large surplus to provide for other purchases for improvement and betterments and for exigencies. The stock yesterday sold up to 65¾, its highest price.

It was announced yesterday that $3,500,000 gold had been engaged in London for New York. This eased call rates in New York. One money broker offered $10,000,000 on call at 6 per cent.

Thirty-seven roads for August show an average net increase of 10.02 per cent.

A Pittsburgh stock exchange membership was quoted at $6,000 bid, $8,000 asked. The last sale was at $8,000.

CORNER PROPERTY BRINGS $90,000

Morris Baer Buys 626 Smithfield Street from Henry W. Oliver Estate.

MANY SMALL DEALS CLOSED

The executors of the Henry W. Oliver estate have sold to Morris Baer of Kaufmann Brothers, the property at 626 Smithfield street, at the northeast corner of Strawberry alley for $90,000. The lot measures 20x88.5 feet, which makes the sale at the rate of $4,500 a foot for the Smithfield street frontage, or $79.65 a square foot. On the lot is a rather old three-story brick store building which is occupied by Floyd V. Boyd, a Sunlik manufacturers, as a store. The sale was made direct without the agency of any brokers.

George Gray and E. Gensenleiter have purchased from John M. Prescott 252 feet of frontage, on the west side of Boquet street, Fourteenth ward, for $20,000. The property has a depth of 142 feet and adjoins the David Challinor holdings. It is understood that several brick houses will be erected on the plot in the spring.

Lawrenceville Corner Is Sold.

Through the office of Hay & Brown the firm of S. Obermayer & Co. of Cincinnati, has bought from Robert H. Hay 95x80 feet at the southwest corner of Thirty-fifth and Smallman streets for $11,000. The lot also has a frontage of 80 feet in Charlotte street in the rear, and is improved with a brick building which the purchasers have rented for a number of years for a foundry office. The place is best known as the old William Clark & Sons' mill office.

S. M. Lusk of New York, has sold to Elizabeth P. Smitley 48x168 feet at Wellesley and Euclid avenues, Nineteenth ward, for $19,000. The lot may be improved soon with an apartment house.

George A. Jones has bought from Edward S. Kennedy two pieces of property in the Twenty-eighth ward for $12,000. Both lots are improved with old brick buildings and measures respectively, 21x76 feet on the south side of Carson street, near Sixteenth street, and 20x89 feet in the front facing in Sixteenth street.

John F. Sweeny has closed the deals for three more of his Mt. Washington houses. Thomas Littlewood secured a new brick residence on 23x87 feet on the north side of Boggs avenue for $4,000. Eliza T. Smith purchased a similar property, 24x88 feet, in the same street for $4,200. Elizabeth Shepherd got a brick house on 33x65 feet in the same street for $5,500.

Another Ligonier Resort on Market.

Following the sale at auction of the famous Ligonier Springs hotel property last week the Real Estate Trust Company has been authorized to sell the Kissell Springs property near Ligonier, which is equally as well known. For several years the place has been operated as a health resort by R. R. Kissell. It has the advantage of beautiful mountain scenery and the waters of the springs are said to contain exceptionally fine medicinal properties. The property includes 43 acres, about half of which is cleared and the remainder is covered with a heavy growth of oak, chestnut, beech and maple timber.

Cochran & Davis have secured the contract from Architect R. Maurice Trimble for the erection of the six-story warehouse of H. H. Willock in Market street between Third and Fourth avenues. The estimated cost of the structure is put at $50,000.

Martsolf Brothers have been awarded the contract by Architect E. B. Lang for the three-story brick flat building which W. L. Smith will erect at Seventh and Pena avenues, West Liberty, at a cost of $15,000.

The board of education of Punxsutawney is taking estimates on a 12-room brick school house to cost about $65,000, which was designed by Architects Robinson & Winkler of this city.

Architect J. E. Keirn is taking bids on 15 brick, stone and shingle houses to be built for the Brighton Heights Land Company on their new allotment in Allegheny. The houses will cost from $4,000 to $6,000 each.

The A. and S. Wilson Company has the contract for the brick office building which the Pittsburgh Railways Company will erect at the south end of the Mt. Washington tunnel.

Two Prosperous Realty Localities.

Two localities have been especially favored in the minds of real estate investors the past two weeks. One is the outer Penn avenue district, where a half dozen sales have been made very recently. Whether it is because the majority of realty men think that prices in that district are below normal compared with prices paid for properties no better improved, or because the movement of commission men to those corners has started business men to thinking that this may, after all become a desirable place for many kinds of trade, certain it is that there has been more inquiry the past month than at any time since the boom of 1903 broke. It will be remembered that this district suffered considerably from this boom, not in the falling off of prices but in the slow demand for properties there the next year. This year the movement seems to be a rational one and prices announced are not so high except in a few cases that they have made speculators doubt that they were actually received. The other section that has come into prominence lately is the Center avenue locality, where during the past two weeks more than a dozen good sales have been made. Most of these were in Center avenue and several of them were corner properties of which there is now a limited demand in that street.

Sales Made by Brokers.

Gertrude street: Isaac N. Bunton sold to Thomas E. Newman 26x115 feet on the west side of Gertrude street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,400.

This week will likely witness the consummation of one of the greatest real estate deals in the history of McKeesport outside of the one through which the National Tube Company got their site for the new tube works in that city. The deal is for the property at Fifth avenue and Walnut street, which is owned by Dr. T. L. White. The corner is occupied by White's opera house and J. C. Smith's drug store, while adjoining it are the stores of Max Bachman and other merchants, giving a Fifth avenue frontage of 80 feet. The property extends back on Walnut street about 120 feet, including the property of George Good, a saloonkeeper. The price is said to be $265,000. Dr. White was in Pittsburgh yesterday arranging some of the preliminaries of the deal with the purchasers, who are said to be western capitalists. Dr. White has purchased the D. Clark property in Fifth avenue, for $80,000 and if the opera house sale is completed he will at once begin the construction of a handsome new theater on the new site.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Buying ahead to a more liberal extent was a conspicuous figure with the home trade in the drygoods market today. This condition was induced to a certain extent by the operations of exporters, whose purchases into next year have led the home trade to operate with more confidence regarding the future. Prices are firm with requests for prompt deliveries still unfilled.

BUTTER REGAINS ITS BREAK OF HALF A CENT

All Other Lines in Local Markets Are Weak With No Show of Improvement.

There were no changes in any line in the local markets yesterday except in butter. That commodity moved up a half cent a pound. The advance was not unexpected, but it remains to be seen whether the market can be maintained as there is a great lot of storage butter on hands and the holders are getting uneasy. If they should begin shoving out their stock in an effort to save themselves, there is every prospect of a heavy break.

The sugar market seems dead. The heavy cuts of last week seems to have scared buyers and they refuse to get in for any large quantities. It is easier to maintain this position, now the canning season is about at an end.

Flour held its own yesterday and continues weak. Another cut is looked for this week which will bring it to the $5 level. Cheese and eggs are both weak and should come down as the market seems to be burdened with that commodity. Reductions at almost any time would not be surprising.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania—6 cars hay, 16 cars oats, 3 cars corn, 1 car straw, 7 cars feed, 4 cars rye. B. & O.—Eight cars hay, 5 cars oats, 1 car corn, 2 cars feed. Lake Erie—Five cars oats, 4 cars hay, 1 car rye, 1 car corn, 1 car malt.

Arrivals of hay were of good quality yesterday and sales were easily effected at prevailing quotations. Oats still continue scarce and bidding was vigorous yesterday. Corn receipts are not equal to the demand. The balance of the market is steady.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

According to employes it a position to know, the daily capacity of the Standard mill, the principal reduction plant at Colorado City of the United States Refining and Reduction company, will be immediately increased from 400 to 600 tons. The enlargement will cost from $150,000 to $200,000 and an additional 150 men will be given employment. It will probably be completed, bringing the total number up to 400.

The Gem Mines Company has just completed their new electric air compressor at the collar of the Gem shaft at Idaho Springs, Col. It will be driven by a 250-horse-power electric motor and will furnish air for 10 Leyner drills. The plant will furnish power for 25 sets of leasers in the Gem and Freighters Frend mines, besides furnishing power for the operation of the new engine and hoist at the lower levels. When the work of stopping begins in the lower levels it is conjectured that the concentrating section of the Newton Annex mill will be started up to handle the increased production of the mines.

Henry Betecke, aged 79 years, is dead at his home, 422 Marine street, Boulder, Col., where he lived for the past seven years. He came to this country from Brandenwalde, Germany, in 1866. He was the last of the four men who invented the diamond drill. He travelled all over the world introducing it, and was recognized as one of the foremost engineers in the world. He leaves a widow in very comfortable circumstances. Also, one married daughter in Boulder, Mont.; three sons who are in the diamond fields of South Africa, and a daughter, Miss Clara.

The two mining properties in Cripple Creek district that have acquired the greatest prestige are the Portland and Stratton's Independence, both situated on Battle mountain, within plain view of the busy business center of Victor. Every stranger is given a brief history of these celebrities, how they were discovered and the millions they have yielded, with, if the visitor has time to listen, a trip biography of W. S. Stratton. Until the last annual meeting of Portland stockholders the marvelous mine might just as well have been called "The Sphinx," since it represented in the public view everything in it—ore, development, work, dividends—absolute control. It is now managed by Irving Howbert, a man respected of all men save the one he displaced.

Irving B. Dudley, the American minister to Peru, who stopped in the City of Mexico on his way from Lima to the United States, declares that the Cerro de Pasco Mining Company of New York, which represents the Rogers-Hargis-McCune interests, has in Peru the greatest copper proposition in the world. Mr. Dudley said: "The Cerro de Pasco Mining Company has spent $12,000,000 gold and has not yet marketed a ton of ore. The money has been well spent, with big enormous returns, for the mines of the company are undoubtedly the richest copper properties in the world. The money has been spent in opening the mines, in the erection of a smelting plant and in the construction of a railroad 120 miles long. The company proposes to market its ores in the United States and will soon begin production, which will be within the next year. It will become a most important factor in the copper world."

BIG GAIN IN ORE TONNAGE ON B. & O.

Pennsylvania Lines Move Commissary Department to Columbus.

SPECIAL CELERY TRADE TRAIN

A gain of 25 per cent in the tonnage of ore handled at one port by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in September, as compared with the same month last year, gives an idea of the enormous traffic that the railroads are handling without the hint of a great car famine or a freight congestion being heard. With the heaviest movement in the history of railroading, not being exceeded by the vast movement of two years ago, the roads are toady in as good shape for hauling the freight as they have been for several years. The fact that more cars could be used is admitted by all of the railroad men who have to do with the cars, but it is known that the shippers are securing a better service in this way than in former periods of heavy traffic. The roadbeds and rolling stock are in splendid shape, while more men are engaged in handling the traffic than ever before.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad hauled from its docks at Fairport in September 207,000 tons of iron ore. This was an increase of about 40,000 tons over the same port's tonnage for this road in the same month last year, and was far in excess of the highest month of record.

The Baltimore & Ohio has four ports on Lake Erie, each of which is fitted with good docks and modern loading and unloading machinery. The Fairport docks are the largest. The others are at Lorain, Cleveland and Sandusky. Extensive improvements are to be made at Lorain and Fairport next year in connection with the dock facilities, as well as in the terminals and shops for caring for the rolling stock.

The coal movement of the Baltimore & Ohio to the Lake Erie ports has been unusually active this summer and fall and the figures will doubtless show as large a gain as the ore tonnage.

Commissary Department Is Moved.

The commissary department of the Pennsylvania lines west, which has been at St. Louis for several years, was removed from that city to the new commissary building at Columbus, Saturday and Sunday. The new building is a large one, fitted up in the most up-to-date manner for caring for equipment, as well as for stocking cars and caring for provisions for the cars.

E. W. Wesilake, superintendent of the dining car service of the Pennsylvania lines west, whose headquarters have been in Chicago, in connection with the branch of the commissary department there, will this month remove his office to Columbus. At Chicago there will still be retained a branch of the department for cleaning up, shopping and stocking the cars that do not operate into Columbus.

The Pennsylvania has just received two more handsome dining cars built by the Pullman Company for use in the high class trains. One of these cars will be placed in service on the Pennsylvania special at the west end of its 18-hour run between New York and Chicago. The dining service of this train will be maintained by the Pennsylvania Company. The Pennsylvania lines west have received four of the new dining cars this year, each costing $18,000. The older dining and cafe cars are being eliminated as rapidly as possible so as to give a service with the new and modern equipment that cannot be excelled.

Running Special Train for Celery.

To accommodate the large celery-producing field of Stark county, Ohio, the Pacific Express Company has arranged with the Wabash lines east of Toledo to run a special daily express train from Hartville, O., to Pittsburgh. General Agent J. S. Hitchcock of the Pacific company said yesterday that the train would be placed in service for the first time last night and would be continued until about January 1. "The celery producers, as well as the commission men and wholesale dealers in Pittsburgh, asked for the service, and we have endeavored to give them something that will be to their liking," said Mr. Hitchcock. "The train will leave the Stark county fields each evening and will arrive in Pittsburgh soon after midnight. From the Wabash station the celery will be delivered to the merchants and markets by our wagons. We have had to increase our local service materially to care for this special service, but we came to Pittsburgh with the intention of giving the people the best service that could be had where our power went."

Will Inspect Ohio Lines.

The annual inspection trip of the general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west and his staff officers of the transportation department will include more particularly the Ohio lines of the Northwest system this year, the Chartiers railway from Pittsburgh to Washington, Pa., being the only portion of the Southwest system included with the Northwest system lines in Ohio. The inspection will begin October 10 and will continue four days. The first day will be spent on the lines between Pittsburgh, Erie and Ashtabula; the second day on the lines of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division; the third day on the lines to Toledo and the fourth day on the road between Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa.

The general manager's annual inspection of the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh will be made over the Pennsylvania railroad division between here and Philadelphia on October 16 and 17.

Will Advocate Co-Operation.

H. W. Thornton, superintendent of the Erie & Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania lines west, who is well-known for his happy faculty of speech-making, will advocate co-operation between the traffic and transportation department men of the railroads in an address here next Monday evening. This will be at the meeting of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh at the Hotel Henry. The session will be the first one of the season of 1905-6 and an address by Mr. Thornton on this subject will attract all of the members and many outsiders. The subject will be discussed by others.

Local Honor for Prevost.

Honor for S. M. Prevost, the third vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, who died in Philadelphia Sunday, was shown in Pittsburgh yesterday by the flags about the Union station and the other company's buildings being at half-mast throughout the day. Last evening a number of local Pennsylvania officers, including Vice Presidents McCrea and Turner, of the lines west, and Assistant to the President Pitcairn, Superintendent S. C. Long and Division Passenger Agent Watt, of the lines east, left for Philadelphia to attend the obsequies today. Mr. Prevost was intimately known to a number of the local officers.

Give Mr. McCarty a Surprise.

Robert E. McCarty still holds the highest esteem of the Panhandle men in Pittsburgh, even if he did desert them as a direct superior officer to become a still higher officiating head for the Panhandle system. One evening last week he was taken by surprise by several of his former associates, all men of the Pittsburgh division of the Southwest system, and was presented with a fine parlor suite. He was formerly division superintendent, but is now general superintendent of the entire Southwest system.

Col. W. W. Dunnavant happened into Pittsburgh a little while yesterday to shake hands with his many friends and to get a few passengers for the Queen & Crescent route, for which he travels through this territory. He says business is good, and there is a splendid outlook for a fine winter in Florida and southern traffic.

L. A. Robison, general passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, has gone to Tennessee, in the North Bay country, on a hunting trip. He will go from there to Mexico for the annual meeting of the general passenger agents' association.

THREE COUNCILMEN HEARD.

Only Two More Members of Opposition to Grant Boulevard Bill to Testify.

Three former Pittsburgh councilmen gave testimony before United States Commissioner Gamble yesterday in the Grant boulevard traction case. They were W. C. Reitz of the Thirty-fifth ward, Dr. George W. McNeil of the Twenty-first ward and John A. Murphy of the Twentieth ward. Mr. Murphy was the only member of select council who voted against the boulevard ordinance.

Messrs. Reitz and McNeil were of the 11 members of common council who voted against the ordinance. Only two more of the 11 remain to be heard—Dr. J. P. Shaw of the Sixth ward and Gebhardt Sahner of the Twenty-seventh ward.

Thirty-four members of common council voted in favor of the ordinance. None of these have been heard except Thomas M. Brown of the Twentieth ward, who aided the passage of the ordinance in common council by leaving the meeting and giving the majority the necessary three-fourths vote to suspend the rules. Dr. Shaw and Mr. Sahner are expected to be heard today.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 2.6 feet, and the river was stationary.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 2.—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 7.2 feet and falling. A heavy local shower fell at Parkersburg, W. Va., causing a rise of more than a foot at that point. Local showers fell at many places where the government does not have observation stations along the river. The rise in the river will not be sufficient to allow of shipment of coal, but low owners are hoping that it will be sufficient to allow of sending empties to the mines. Word was received here today that the towboat Lucie Marmet had been stuck trying to get over the bar below Lock No. 10 in the Kanawha river. The J. B. Finley will be let off the Queen City marine ways Tuesday. Cloudy and colder.

LOUISVILLE—Falling. In canal, 3.9 feet; on falls, 1.7 feet; below locks, 7 feet. Cloudy and cooler.

MARIETTA—Three and one-half feet and rising. Light rain. Bedford up, 6 a. m.

OIL CITY—Three inches and stationary. Cloudy and cooler.

MORGANTOWN—Five feet 8 inches and falling. Rainy.

STEUBENVILLE—Two feet 8 inches and stationary. Raining and warm.

GREENSBORO—Six feet and falling. Rain and warm. Columbia down Tuesday; Woodward up.

PARKERSBURG—Five feet and stationary. Hard rains today. No boats.

GALLIPOLIS—Four feet 7 inches and falling. Raining and cooler.

POINT PLEASANT—Three feet 5 inches and rising. Light rain. Down, Tacoma; up, Greenland.

WARREN—Six-tenths foot below. Raining.

WHEELING—Two feet 7 inches, falling. Cloudy and cooler, with rain. Departed, Beasle Smith, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.

REPAIRING FLOOD'S WORK.

Street Department Putting in Paving on the Wharf.

There being nothing else doing along the wharf these days the street department is busy repairing a number of breaks in the paving. Every winter the ice and floods tear out a lot of the paving and even washes away the stone, so repairs are an annual event.

The steamer Columbia was the only boat into the harbor yesterday. She brought her usual shipment of whisky from the upriver distilleries.

Capt. Fred Dipple is home with his wife and daughter from the Portland exposition.

Rivermen are confident there will be another shipment of coal this month, and say the heavy rains yesterday are just the starters for a good coal boat stage during October.

HOLD WEEKLY SESSIONS.

Ministerial Associations Meet and Discuss Various Subjects—Judge McKenna Cannot Attend.

The weekly meetings of the Methodist Episcopal Ministerial association yesterday morning was devoted to a discussion of the annual conference which opens in Beaver today and to expressions of regret because of the death of Capt. John F. Dravo.

United Presbyterian clergymen were addressed by the Rev. J. C. Kistler on "How to Secure a Revival of Beneficence in the Congregation." The Methodist Protestant clergymen elected new officers for the year as follows: President, the Rev. A. E. Fetzer of Knoxville; secretary and treasurer, the Rev. R. B. Whitehead. The Rev. J. F. Clokey read a paper on "Miracles" before the Presbyterian pastors, and the Rev. J. B. Williamson spoke to the Baptist ministers on "The Romans."

Judge Charles F. McKenna of Porto Rico, who was to have addressed the Presbyterian meeting, could not attend because of being summoned to court at the same hour. He sent a message complimenting the Presbyterians for their missionary work on the island, and declared that there was still plenty of room there for all.

Donation Day at Passavant.

The annual donation day will be celebrated at Passavant hospital on Thursday of this week. There will be a reception by the Ladies' Aid society and both hospital and sister house at Roberts and Reed streets will be thrown open to the inspection of visitors. While many invitations have been sent out, it will be a public affair and everybody will be given a cordial welcome.

Passavant hospital has been an active factor in the cure of Pittsburgh's sick and injured for many years, and its work is steadily increasing. Last year 1,233 patients were admitted, 270 outdoor patients treated, and the "nursing days" numbered 25,647. One-fifth, or 5,075, of the nursing days were "free," as were nearly all the outdoor treatments. This is an average of 14 patients every day of the year who were nursed and had all their wants supplied by the hospital without one cent in return.

The hospital has a debt of $7,624 12 on the east wing and laundry addition and of $7,781 34 on the sisters' home and nurses' home, a total of $15,405 46, on which interest is being paid. The current expense account fell $907 behind last year, and the institution needs the help of its friends and the friends of the unfortunate more than it ever did. The demands made upon it are steadily increasing and can only be met through the generosity of the public. On this account it is hoped that the donations on Thursday will be ample. Money is always acceptable, but nothing in the way of good housekeeping can come amiss. Blankets, bed linen, table linen, towelling, pictures, carpets, good, warm clothing, groceries, canned fruits, jam and jellies will be thankfully received. Donors will be served to send their names, that a report showing the work of the hospital can be mailed in return.

The hours for the reception will be from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. Refreshments will be served. All the Center avenue cars run within a block of the hospital.

Dividing City Into Districts.

In order to facilitate the work of the juvenile court and its probation officers the city is being divided into districts according to its wards. There are now nine probation officers, the salaries of two being paid by the Catholic women of the city and one by the Juvenile Court Aid society, organized within the Columbian Council of Jewish Women. The Juvenile Court association held its first meeting since early in the summer in the Civic club rooms yesterday. An interesting report was made of the establishment of a library in the rooms of detention, the library having been installed several weeks ago, and freely used by the children who have been kept within the rooms awaiting their turn in court. The number of children in the city and county who are now under the care of the probation officers is so large that systematic work, it was felt, could only be done by districting the county, including the two cities, each officer being responsible for her own district.

The association is considering the advisability of holding a benefit matinee in one of the theaters for the juvenile court work, but no arrangements have been made yet. Definite plans will be made, however, before the next meeting of the association.

Meeting of New York Federation.

The New York Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its eleventh annual convention in Binghamton, October 30 and November 1 and 2.

In addition to the business there will be a session of home arts and crafts under the direction of Mrs. Hendrick S. Holden of Syracuse, a literature session conducted by Mrs. Virgil D. Morse of Ithaca, and another devoted to the reports and discussions of the committee on industrial conditions as they affect women and children. The president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, is expected to be present and a reception in her honor will be given on Tuesday evening, October 31.

Discuss Pittsburgh's Early Days.

Mrs. John Musgrave entertained the Keystone chapter, Daughters of the American Pioneers, yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the October meeting. A formal program was presented, followed by tea, the service used being exquisite china, which has been in this country and in Mrs. Musgrave's family for over a century. The tea table was decorated with dahlias in every color. The program included a paper by Mrs. Harmar Denny Scully, who gave a picture of early Pittsburgh, stating that 1752 was the year when the idea of a settlement at the headwaters of the Ohio was first suggested. She was followed by the regent, Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, who described Pittsburgh 75 years ago, when its population was less than 15,000. As late as 1840 the present site of the Grand Opera house and the Avenue theater was the location of the graveyard belonging to the Third Presbyterian church. Many interesting features of the life and habits of the people in those early days were told by the women present. The next meeting of the chapter will be held the first Monday in December.

Preparing for Annual Bazar.

An all-day sewing will be conducted tomorrow in the parlors of the Young Women's Christian association, Collins avenue, East Liberty. The members are preparing for the annual dinner and bazar, which will be held in November. Lunch will be served tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock. The industrial school carried on by the association will commence its work on Saturday, November 4.

Political Aspects of Morocco.

The first lecture this fall before the Germanische Gesellschaft will be given this evening at 8 o'clock in the Twentieth Century club. The lecturer will be Herr Rudolf Cronau, a New York journalist, who has traveled in Morocco and who will speak on the political aspects of that country. It will be an illustrated lecture.

Rally for Business Women.

The annual rally of the Business Women's club will be held in the club rooms, 315 Arch street, Allegheny, on Monday evening, October 16, at 8 o'clock. The winter's educational work of the club will commence October 17, registration days being from October 9 to October 23.

Nurses' Association to Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the Nurses' Alumnae association of the training school connected with the Homeopathic hospital will be held on Thursday afternoon, October 5, at 3 o'clock, in the hospital chapel. Business of importance will be discussed.

Club Notes.

A meeting of the managers of the Homeopathic hospital fair, October 19 and 20, was held yesterday morning to complete details.

The Art Students league yesterday opened its studio in Emily street, near Craft avenue, for the season.

The educational department at the Central Young Women's Christian association, and at the 12 branches on the South Side and in Lawrenceville, commenced its fall term yesterday.

The Woman's Press club will hold its regular meeting on Monday, October 9, at 3 p. m. on the ninth floor of the McCreery Company building.

Too Much Worry.

Worry kills more people than disease. It turns our hair gray; draws wrinkles on our face, places lines of care on our brow. We worry because we have too much to do. We worry because we have nothing to do. We worry about our friends. Make our friends wonder at our impatient and irritable nature, and if we don't take the trouble to learn the great secret we will worry ourselves into the grave. Worry is caused by a diseased stomach. Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets cure it. Get them today. A contented mind is surely yours—the greatest blessing man or woman can have. "Ask the Druggist."
